Man who stabbed author Salman Rushdie gets 25-year jail term

The man convicted of stabbing author Salman Rushdie (77) on a New York lecture stage in 2022, leaving him blind in one eye, was sentenced Friday to serve 25 years in prison. A jury found Hadi Matar (27) guilty of attempted murder and assault in February. Rushdie did not return to the western New York courtroom for his assailant's sentencing but submitted a victim impact statement | P14

IPL RESUMES AFTER BREAK DUE TO BORDER TENSIONS

Royal Challengers Bengaluru host Kolkata Knight Riders in Bengaluru today. The league was temporarily suspended on May 8

MATCHES IN SIX VENUES, FINAL ON JUNE 3

- Delhi, Jaipur, Ahmedabad, Bengaluru, Lucknow and Mumbai will host the remaining 12 matches, with venues for the play-offs yet to be decided
- Due to forecast of rains in Southern India, IPL decided against hosting matches in Chennai and Hyderabad, with Bengaluru hosting two matches | P17

DEPLETED SQUADS FOR SEVERAL TEAMS

- Several IPL teams will have depleted squads in the home stretch because of important assignments like the WTC final. South African players, for example, will not feature in the playoffs
- However, sides have been allowed to name 'temporary' replacements to supplement their roster. Mumbai will be one of the hardest hit side

Panel seeks extension till May 28 for SC survey

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE committee conducting the state-wide survey of Scheduled Castes, headed by Justice Nagmohan Das, has sought an extension of its deadline from May 23 to 28 to ensure full and accurate enumeration. This is to accommodate responses from historically underrepresented nomadic SC groups such as the Lambani, Banjara, Alemari and others who have sought time to furnish details, said Justice Das here on Friday.

But the survey is on track for timely completion despite initial hurdles. Launched on May 5, it has already covered an estimated 72% of its target.

"We are confident of completing the survey well within May 28. The extension is not because of delays but to guarantee 100% inclusion and authenticity," he told the media.

The ambitious survey has drawn national attention, with Union authorities seeking details into Karnataka's methodology, he said, adding, "We have already shared our survey protocols and progress with the Centre."

On concerns about the exclusion of certain SC communities, such as Mansa, Kembatti, Madiga Dasari and Mera, he said that while these groups are availing SC benefits under broader categories like Adi Karnataka or Adi Dravida, efforts will be made to ensure their accurate nomenclature in official records. "We will inform the government about their specific identities so that due process is followed to officially include them in the SC list, which currently comprises 101 castes," he said.

K'taka plans 100% hike in liquor licence renewal fees

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Bengaluru

HAPPY hours are over. After hiking liquor prices three times in the last two years, the State Government has now proposed to hike annual licence renewal fees of distilleries, breweries, liquor shops, bars and restaurants and clubs serving liquor by 100 percent. The government which is currently collecting Rs 700 crore through fees annually will collect Rs 1,400 crore from about 12,000 different types of licences. The licence fees were last revised during 2016-17.

The new proposals are likely to come into effect from July 1.

Annual licence renewal fee of breweries has been hiked to Rs 54 lakh from the existing 27 lakh and that of the distilleries will jump to Rs 90 lakh from Rs 45 lakh. Similarly, the annual licence renewal fee of bottling units of distilleries and breweries has been increased from Rs 1 lakh to Rs 2 lakh. The annual lease amount of retail vending of bulk beers has also been hiked to Rs 3 lakh and that of clubs, bar and restaurants, bars with lodging serving liquor to Rs 2 lakh.

Even the fees for transfer of licences for selling Indian liquor or foreign liquor, or both, has been hiked substantially from the existing fees to twice or thrice. The military canteens and wineries as usual did not get affected as nominal fees continued to apply. The license fee for wine tavern is Rs 2,000 per annum and boutiques Rs 5,000.

Teams to visit 40-50 countries, many of them Islamic, to expose Pak terror footprint

Mega diplomatic push via multi-party teams

PREETHA NAIR AND RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

WITH the Centre set to send nearly a dozen multi-party delegations to various important countries to exert diplomatic pressure on Pakistan, it was learnt that the lists of Opposition and ruling coalition's MPs were prepared by the Prime Minister's Office and conveyed to respective political parties.

While MPs from various political parties were consulted by Union minister Kiran Rijiju, sources said the selection was done based on certain parameters, such as domain knowledge, articulation skills and representation of women and Muslims.

The delegations will brief the hosts on Pakistan's role in perpetrating cross-border terror in the April 22 Pahalgam attack, Operation Sindoor and the efforts by some countries to hyphenate India and Pakistan. "There will be a briefing by the MEA before we leave. We may also present dossiers on Pakistan's links to the terror attacks," said an MP.

The delegation may travel to 40-50 countries and are likely to start from May 22 or 23 for a period of 10 days. The focus will be more on Islamic countries, said an MP. The government is considering 7-8 eight delegations with 5-6 members each, said a source.

The likely representatives from Congress will be Shashi Tharoor, Manish Tewari, Salman Khurshid and Amar Singh, while DMK's Kanimozhi, CPI (M)'s John Brittas and AIMIM's Asaduddin Owaisi are likely to be part of the delegations. While former Union minister Anurag Thakur, Aparajita Sarangi and Samik Bhattacharya and V Muralidharan are among the BJP MPs, TMC's Sudip Bandyopadhyay, JD(U)'s Sanjay Jha, BJD's Sasmit Patra and NCP-SP's Supriya Sule and J&K's Ghulam Nabi Azad are also likely to be part of the delegations. Several Opposition parties welcomed the move.

Congress general secretary Jairam Ramesh said Rijiju contacted party chief Mallikarjun Kharge on the matter, adding the latter will decide which MPs are to be sent.

Such diplomatic initiatives have been taken in the past as well. In 1994, the then PM Narasimha Rao deputed a team comprising opposition leader Atal Bihari Vajpayee, Farooq Abdullah, Salman Khurshid, and India's then ambassador to the UN, Hamid Ansari, to a UN session in Geneva to present India's case on the Kashmir problem and to defeat a Pakistan resolution to censure New Delhi.

After the Mumbai attack in 2008, PM Manmohan Singh sent a multi-party delegation to various countries with dossiers on Pakistan's links to the terror attacks.

10-DAY MISSION BY MULTIPLE TEAMS

Each multi-party group of 5-6 MPs from both the LS and RS is expected to leave by May 22-23 on its 10-day diplomatic mission. These teams will visit the US, UK, and several Islamic nations to share India's stance on Pak-sponsored terror

OFFICIAL DETAILS EXPECTED TODAY

A senior government source said that the MPs will be thoroughly briefed and equipped with evidence of Pakistan's involvement in the Pahalgam terror attack. Official details on the mission are expected to ne announced on Saturday

OWAISI MAY LEAD TEAM TO S ARABIA

Asaduddin Owaisi, who sharply condemned Pakistan after the Pahalgam terror attack, is likely to lead a delegation to Saudi Arabia and Qatar. In all, over 35 MPs are expected to participate in the diplomatic outreach

RAJNATH: PAK USING IMF MONEY FOR TERROR

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA
@ Ahmedabad

INDIA on Friday called upon the International Monetary Fund to reconsider its $1 billion assistance to Pakistan, stressing that Islamabad can use it for funding terror.

Defence Minister Rajnath Singh, who arrived at the Bhuj Air Force station Friday morning to review the overall security situation, said India does not want funds it gives to the IMF to be used to create a terror infrastructure in Pakistan.

"India would like the IMF to reconsider its assistance of $1 billion to Pakistan and refrain from giving any kind of assistance in future," he said.

Rajnath Singh

He lauded the Air Force for spearheading the campaign against terrorism effectively.

"The current ceasefire is not a peace agreement — it's probation," Singh declared. "If Pakistan's behaviour improves, good. If not, the harshest punishment will follow ..." he said. Singh further said Pakistan has started rebuilding its destroyed terror infrastructure, and has collected taxes from its citizens to lend it to Masood Azhar, head of Jaish-e-Mohammed and a UN-designated terrorist. "Pakistan plans to divert public funds — roughly ₹14 crore — to Masood Azhar of JeM," Singh said. Pakistan has announced financial aid to LeT and JeM in Muridke and Bahawalpur, he said.

Voda's SOS to govt: Need timely help on AGR dues, else will have to shut shop

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

VODAFONE Idea (Vi) has said it will be forced to shut shop if the government doesn't help. India's third-largest telecom operator urged the Centre to waive its adjusted gross revenue (AGR) dues, warning that it may not be able to continue operations beyond FY26.

According to sources, the telecom company has sought the government's intervention to meet AGR obligations and mitigate insolvency risk. Vi also warned that the value of the government's equity stake could fall to zero, resulting in no recovery on the ₹1.18 lakh crore of spectrum dues.

Currently, Vi's total liabilities are pegged at ₹2 lakh crore, including ₹1.19 lakh crore in spectrum usage charges and ₹83,400 crore in AGR dues. The company is required to pay ₹18,000 crore annually in AGR dues over the next six years. According to Vi, this figure exceeds its operating cash flows, which have averaged between ₹8,400 crore and ₹9,200 crore over the past three years.

The government had in March converted ₹36,950 crore of the firm's dues into equity, increasing its stake to 49%.

Meanwhile, the beleaguered firm has filed a fresh petition in the Supreme Court seeking waiver of ₹30,000 crore in AGR dues, pertaining to interest, penalty, and interest on penalty components. Vi's fresh petition comes in the wake of the SC's ruling in February rejecting a batch of pleas by several telcos against the Department of Telecommunications (DoT)'s formula to calculate AGR. The SC upheld the DoT's calculation, which included telcos' revenue from non-telecom businesses as well and not just core telecom operations.

According to Vi, timely support from the Government of India is needed on AGR relief, otherwise the ongoing discussions with banks regarding funding will stall.

If the situation leads to operational disruption, approximately 200 million users could be affected.

Drunk car driver runs over techie after minor scuffle

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A 29-year-old techie was killed, while his friend survived the murder bid after a drunk man crashed his car into their bike. The crime was over a petty incident: The accused wanted the victim to buy him a cigarette, but the latter refused.

The victim, HN Sanjay, was a resident of Vajarahalli on Kanakapura Main Road, while the injured, Chetan Pujamath (30), stays in JP Nagar 7th Phase. The accused Pratheek (31), a BCom graduate and a manager at a private company, is a resident of RR Nagar.

On May 10, the two friends, both techies, were working at Sanjay's house. Early in the morning, they wanted to drink tea and went out on their two-wheeler. Around 3.50 am when they were having tea at a roadside stall, a car drove up next to them. Pratheek, who was returning home with his wife from a birthday party, asked the techies to get him a cigarette. When Chetan refused, Pratheek, who was reportedly drunk, got down from his car and started arguing. Sanjay and others at the tea stall intervened, while Pratheek's wife forced him back into the car.

"As Sanjay was riding back home with Chetan on the pillion, Pratheek drove behind them and crashed his car into their bike. Chetan slid on the car's bonnet and sustained minor injuries," said the police.

Muttaqi-Jaishankar call fresh Taliban attempt to normalise ties with India

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

Afghan Foreign Minister Amir Muttaqi

THE Taliban-led government in Afghanistan is making a fresh push to normalise relations with India as part of its broader campaign for international legitimacy, sources familiar with the development said. Acting Afghan Foreign Minister Amir Khan Muttaqi's phone call with External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar on Thursday was the highest-level contact between New Delhi and Taliban since the group seized power in August 2021.

"The phone call ahead of Muttaqi's scheduled visits to Iran and China signals Kabul's growing interest in re-engaging India on critical bilateral issues," said a source. These include trade facilitation, visa processes, the repatriation of Afghan prisoners, and strengthening collaboration on the strategic Chabahar port — a key project that India has backed to enhance regional connectivity and helping landlocked Afghanistan get sea access bypassing Pakistan.

"There is a consistent conversation between Indian and Taliban officials," a source said. This includes a meeting between Muttaqi and Foreign Secretary Vikram Misri in Dubai in January, apart from a recent visit to Kabul by an Indian diplomat overseeing Afghanistan relations, shortly after the Pahalgam terror attack.

Taliban officials strongly condemned the Pahalgam attack and dismissed Pakistani military reports alleging Indian missile strikes on Afghan soil as "baseless."

These efforts are part of a broader Taliban effort to distance itself from regional instability and present a more responsible image on the world stage. Beyond India, Muttaqi is expected to visit Tehran and Beijing in the coming weeks.

Temple belongs to ISKCON B'luru, rules SC in 24-yr-old case

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

BRINGING an end to a 24-year-old property dispute, the Supreme Court on Friday ruled that the Hare Krishna temple in Bengaluru rightfully belongs to the ISKCON Society based in the city. A bench of Justices Abhay S Oka and Augustine George Masih set aside a Karnataka High Court judgment that had earlier declared the temple property to be under the control of the ISKCON Society, Mumbai. The case involved a complex legal battle between the two organisations - Iskcon Bangalore and Iskcon Mumbai - both bearing the name International Society for Krishna Consciousness (ISKCON) and promoting similar spiritual objectives rooted in the teachings of Srila Prabhupada, the founder of the global Hare Krishna movement.

The dispute dates back to 2011, when Iskcon Bangalore, led by its president Kodandarama Dasa, moved the Supreme Court after the High Court overturned a local civil court's favourable ruling. That earlier judgment had upheld Iskcon Bangalore's claim as an independent, Karnataka-registered society with rightful control over the temple. ISKCON Mumbai, registered under the Societies Registration Act, 1860, and the Bombay Public Trusts Act, 1950, had contended that Iskcon Bangalore functioned as a subordinate branch and that the Bengaluru temple fell under its jurisdiction.

However, Iskcon Bangalore maintained that it had always functioned as an autonomous entity, managing the temple independently under Karnataka's laws.

With Friday's ruling, the Supreme Court has effectively ended the prolonged legal tussle and confirmed Iskcon Bangalore's exclusive rights to the temple's ownership, administration and associated activities. The verdict brings clarity and relief to the Bengaluru-based organisation and is likely to influence future governance of religious institutions with overlapping claims. P7

SC SURVEY

BBMP steps up awareness drive

8,072 enumerators have been deployed

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike has taken up a comprehensive survey of Scheduled Castes in 27 Assembly constituencies under its jurisdiction.

The civic body has covered 58,122 Scheduled Caste households and 14,14,716 non-Scheduled Caste households and collected data so far.

To get the survey done in BBMP limits, 8,072 enumerators have been deployed. The palike will intensify the survey and conduct an awareness programme.

Palike officials from the Welfare Department said, "In collaboration with the Social Welfare Department, Government of Karnataka, the survey of Scheduled Castes in eight zones under the jurisdiction of Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) is being held. Accordingly, awareness programmes have been organised in all eight zones for six days from May 15 to May 20 to actively involve the SC community in the survey." The municipality is also organising street plays in the city's colonies where the SC community is large, in crowded places, at signals, malls, market areas, bus stands, railway stations and other crowded areas to create awareness. This apart, work is being done to create awareness among the citizens by installing loudspeakers in autos about the Scheduled Caste survey within the BBMP limits. In addition, awareness is being created by distributing posters and pamphlets.

The SC comprehensive survey in the city is being carried out in three phases. In the first phase, enumerators will visit houses from May 5 to May 17 and conduct a survey. In the second phase, the survey will be conducted by enumerators in special camps from May 19 to May 21. In the third phase, self-declaration can be done online from May 19 to 23.

RELEVANT DOCUMENTS

- BBMP has requested public to provide necessary documents to enumerators who go door-to-door for the survey
- For Scheduled Castes, their original caste certificate, education (educational records), income (annual income record), employment details
- Other necessary documents like Aadhaar card number or ration card.

PU II Exam-2 pass rate falls below 32%, hits 3.98% dip

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE pass percentage for the second Pre-University Exam-II dropped to 31.27% this year, with just 60,692 of the 1,94,077 students clearing the exam, marking a nearly 4% decline compared to 2024.

Among the 1,53,620 freshers, 54,168 cleared the exam, recording a pass percentage of 35.26. Additionally, 71,964 students took the exam to improve their scores, and 41,719 managed to improve their marks, while 28,617 students scored lower compared to their marks in Exam- I.

Among freshers, the Arts stream had the highest number of candidates with 61,185 appearing, Science with 47,402, while Commerce had the lowest with 45,033. Despite the higher turnout, Arts recorded the lowest pass percentage at 28.43%, while Commerce achieved the highest at 41.29%. The pass percentage for Science stood at 38.35%. The overall pass percentage for freshers, combining Exam 1 and Exam 2 results, stands at 81.94%, while the overall pass percentage (freshers, repeaters and private students included) is 77.96%.

Girls outperformed boys in the Exam-II, achieving a pass percentage of 36.38% compared to 34.34% for boys. Repeaters from previous years secured a pass percentage of 16.21%, while private candidates with attendance shortages had a mere 6.91% pass rate.

Physics saw the highest number of students attempting subject-wise improvement, with 46,270 appearing and 26,518 achieving better scores. However, Chemistry had the maximum number of improved scores, with 31,974 students successfully enhancing their marks.

The Chief Minister congratulated the students and encouraged those who improved their scores. He assured those who couldn't clear both exams that they could attempt Exam-III.

BBMP to host 'Bengaluru Habba' fest

Bengaluru: In order to raise awareness about environmental conservation among morning walkers and the general public visiting parks under BBMP limits, a cultural festival titled "Bengaluru Habba" has been organised. This festival will include cultural and artistic activities. 27 parks, one in each of the 27 Assembly constituencies, will host year-round cultural and child-oriented creative programmes from May 2025 to March 2026, stated a BBMP release. The inaugural event will be held at Bugle Rock Park in Basavanagudi. ENS

BIAL ends ties with Turkish firm

Bengaluru: BENGALURU International Airport Ltd (BIAL) on Friday said that it has shifted its ground handling operations from the Turkish Celebi Airport Services to other existing service providers following Turkiye's support to Pakistan in the India-Pakistan conflict. The development comes following the directive from the Bureau of Civil Aviation Security (BCAS). "In compliance with a directive from the BCAS, Government of India, BIAL has transitioned its ground handling operations from Celebi Airport Services Pvt Ltd, to other existing service providers to ensure continuity and operational stability," the airport said. Celebi, which is a subsidiary of Istanbul-headquartered Celebi Aviation Holding, has been a major player in ground handling and cargo services at several Indian airports, including Mumbai, Delhi, Ahmedabad, and Bengaluru. Bengaluru now becomes the fourth Indian airport to cut ties with the Turkish firm after Delhi, Mumbai, Ahmedabad. ENS

Hebbal flyover to be closed for BDA work

Bengaluru: The Hebbal flyover will be closed for incoming traffic from 12 am to 3 am from Esteem Mall to the Baptist hospital for the next four days, starting from May 17. This is being done to install girders on an additional flyover ramp by the Bangalore Development Authority (BDA). BDA will construct additional ramps to the flyover from KR Puram side towards Mehkri Circle. Seven steel girders of 33.5 m length will be installed on the railway tracks. Vehicles coming from the Airport side towards Mekhri Circle must take the Service Road and turn right at Hebbal Circle onto the Outer Ring Road. Then they should take Tumakuru Road, take a left turn at Kuvempu Circle via New BEL Road to reach Mehkri Circle. ENS

Kendriya Vihar apartment gets notice over renewal of NOC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Kendriya Vihar Apartments in Yelahanka — often in the spotlight during monsoon season for severe flooding, with residents forced to use boats— are once again making headlines.

This time, the Fire and Emergency Services Department has written to the Bangalore Electricity Supply Company (BESCOM), requesting a power disconnection due to issues related to the renewal of the No Objection Certificate (NOC). The department has also given one week to comply with the notice to get a renewal.

However, the apartment residents' association say a proposal was sent in February to the department. It is alleged that even during the construction stage, no permission or clearance certificate was sought from the department by the association.

The department has also written to Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) not to issue an occupancy certificate, and if already issued, it should be withdrawn. The development comes after an occupier in the apartment approached the fire department and alleged the bylaw violations, stating that the vehicles cannot come inside the apartment during a disaster. Both BESCOM and BBMP have been given one week to comply with the order. Responding to the notices, the president of Kendriya Vihar Apartment Owners Association, Shiva Prasad said that a troublemaker has made a false allegation regarding bylaw violations, for which they have already obtained a High Court stay against coercive action from the BBMP and a communication was sent to Fire and Emergency Department over their notices.

"We will also share the court documents with the Fire and Emergency Department. About the NOC renewal, we have given a proposal for renewal in February, and it is pending consideration from the fire department itself," he said.

CMRIT hosts 'Social Hackathon 2025' to drive tech-led innovation

Bengaluru: CMR Institute of Technology (CMRIT) hosted 'The Social Hackathon 2025', a national-level, 24-hour offline hackathon aimed at driving technology-led social innovation. Out of 480 registered teams from across India, 95 teams were shortlisted to showcase their projects before an expert panel. Among these, 23 hardware and 72 software projects made it to the final round. V Ramprasad, co-founder of Friends of Lakes, who inaugurated the hackathon and, along with his team, judged the projects. In the software category, Team Null Pointers won first place, while in the hardware category, Team Bugs bagged the top prize. Addressing the students, Dr K C Ramamurthy, IPS (Retd.), chairman of the CMR Group of Institutions and former MP (Rajya Sabha), said, "The ultimate purpose of innovation is to benefit society. Any project that requires assistance, CMRIT is always ready to step in and help. We've seen solutions addressing agriculture, social welfare, and a wide range of socially relevant issues. It's this diversity of thought that will drive long-term, meaningful development." ENS

Presidency University hosts 'Experimental Week'

Bengaluru: The School of Design at Presidency University hosted 'Experiential Week', a celebration of creativity, skill, and innovation. Over 250 students from the Bachelor of Design and B Sc Multimedia programs participated in the event. The Experiential Week, with over 300 student projects on display, highlighted the diversity of talent within the School of Design at Presidency University, Bangalore. ENS

Govt eyeing 3,000 acres in Bidadi: Ashoka

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

LAUNCHING a scathing attack on the Congress government that has brought in the Greater Bengaluru Authority (GBA), Opposition leader of Karnataka Assembly R Ashoka said, the land here in Bidadi is irrigation land and through GBA, Siddaramaiah government is attempting to gobble up 3,000 acres of land here.

Taking part in a protest against land acquisition by the GBA in Ramanagara on Friday, Ashoka said 70 per cent of sites by the Bangalore Development Authority are lying vacant. "Who will come to Bidadi to buy sites, as there are no takers for BDA in Bengaluru itself. 2 lakh flats are empty. Their action is not to build homes but to disturb peace. The government dragged Union Minister HD Kumaraswamy's name into the controversy, but he dropped the project 20 years ago. If Kumaraswamy had to build sites here, he would have done it in 2018 when he became CM again. He dropped the idea as this is the farmers' land. BJP will not allow land acquisition in Bidadi," said Ashoka.

He also said the intent of Congress is nothing but 'loot'. The government is anti-farmer. "The farmers are the backbone, and they should survive. If the government goes ahead to take over land, then farmers will come to the streets. Around 10,000 acres are used for silk cultivation. The government wants to finish Silk City Ramanagara once and for all, and hence, they are attempting to acquire land," said Ashoka.

PETER VIDAL

17th May : This is my last word on this week's theme – multiverses. According to the scientists who believe in multiverses, each one consists of so many universes that eventually they must begin to repeat each other. In other words, somewhere, right now, in another universe, there is another you, reading these words, written by another me!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
This is not a day for adventure, especially not for bold journeys to the edges of the known universe! Rather, it's a time to do what must be done, fulfilling all your many duties and obligations. Otherwise you'll be caught out later when the reckoning finally arrives!

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
If you wish, you may coast along today, happy to put certain essential affairs on to auto-pilot. You should use this opportunity to relax, especially if you're about to launch a new professional venture. Don't wait around while others make the running.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Work and the big wide world may be more enticing, but it will be essential to deal with necessary tasks at home. To this end, I would advise patience and restraint, although please do set aside whatever time is needed for a spot of romantic day-dreaming.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
You should remember that you are still inclined to imagine all sorts of things which are not true. In general, the fantasy-level in your solar chart has declined dramatically, but it's still not clear what is true and what is wish-fulfilment. That's the main reason why a little caution is advisable when you're making major commitments.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Today's delicate lunar alignments are truly splendid in many ways and, under normal circumstances, it would help you to bring personal goals to a point of no return. This time around you will have to move like greased lightning to save the day. Get on with it!

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
The burning question now is whether you should take the initiative or not. Probably, the only way for you to get what you want is to accept that just for now you must shoulder more of the burden. But then you're used to doing more than your fair share. Perhaps this time you'll get proper appreciation.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
By all means keep your feelings to yourself, and don't worry if other people complain. They may have a right to know what you are doing, but they have absolutely no right to peer into your deepest emotions. What you need to do now is decide what it's safe to tell partners, and what you have to keep to yourself.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
You may have to swallow your pride and admit that someone else may be right after all. That doesn't mean that you should accept anything less than the best at work. Individuals applying for jobs should give a hundred and ten percent! Complacency and over-confidence should be avoided!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Do consider certain ethical questions while you still have time. If you wish to force others to raise their standards of behaviour, you will have to do so by setting an example, so there's nothing to be gained by preaching. You need to listen to others first and make up your mind later.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
You are now entering a month-long financial cycle that is really quite stunning. You may even be able to sort out your long-term security, once and for all. Already, you may be discovering clues that a partner is more ready to listen to reason.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Macho Mars has a role to play this morning, while gentle Venus steps in this afternoon. These movements won't signify changes today, but they do indicate that over the next twenty-four hours you will enter a phase that is confident, assertive and hopefully successful.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
You are always happy to let other people wait on you, and today offers you an ideal chance to take time off while others do your dirty work. Please put your feet up while partners do the running around. Keep an eye on their progress though, and be ready to intervene if they're in danger of creating a real mess!

2 BANK EMPLOYEES ARRESTED FOR ROBBING RS 15 LAKH FROM LOCKER

Theft found during year-end audit, items weighing 170g recovered

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

TWO private bank employees were arrested for allegedly stealing diamond and gold ornaments belonging to the bank manager, which were kept in the bank locker in BEML Layout, Basaveshwaranagar.

The bank manager, S P Sirisha (32), filed a complaint with the Basaveshwaranagar police station in January, reporting that ornaments weighing around 200 grams and worth around Rs 15 lakhs were missing from her locker. Based on her complaint, the police arrested Harshith (24), a resident of Kamakshipalya, and Aishwarya (27), residing in the city's South East police division. Harshith was working as a field executive, while Aishwarya was in charge of the locker's safe custody. Both had been associated with the bank for the last five years.

According to the police, Sirisha, a resident of Vidyamana Nagar, had shown her colleagues the valuables she had kept in the locker in May 2024. Alongside the ornaments, her mark cards, cheque books, and other documents were also kept inside.

An officer said when Sirisha briefly stepped away, leaving her purse behind, the accused took the keys to her locker. Access to the locker required two sets of keys, one belonging to the customer and the other held by the person in charge of safe custody. Aishwarya, having access to the second set of keys, conspired with Harshith to open the locker. They waited for a power failure, rendering CCTVs non-functional.

Sirisha had thought she had misplaced her keys. During the bank's year-end audit, she had the lock forcibly opened as per protocol, only to discover that all her ornaments were missing.

"Since outsiders had no access to the area, it was evident that it was an inside job," said an officer. Both accused went into hiding after being asked to return for further interrogation. They later obtained anticipatory bail and, upon being questioned, confessed to the crime. The police recovered 170 grams of ornaments that were sold. Aishwarya, who was building a house, and Harshith, who was paying off a loan, had shared the stolen money.

State govt publishes draft policy for health staff transfer

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE state government has published draft rules, proposing a new framework for transferring medical officers and other staff of the health department.

It has sought objections or suggestions, if any, from public/stakeholders within seven days of the notification's publication. Objections or suggestions to the draft rules can be sent to the department's principal secretary. Stricter guidelines have been formulated for transfer of medical officers and other staff of the department, especially to ensure that rural areas are adequately staffed.

The rules make it mandatory for all medical officers and staff, who have not worked in rural areas and are aged below 50, to be transferred there. This is to address the shortage of staff in government health centres and hospitals in rural areas.

Counselling sessions will be held for transfers. Priority for transfers will be decided on the basis of duration of service in different zones — Zone A (urban), Zone B (semi-urban), and rural areas. A weighted score will be given based on the number of years of service in each zone, with rural service earning the highest weight.

It include exemptions for medical officers or staff, who are pregnant, have children within one year, suffer from terminal illness, or are nearing retirement within in two years. Similarly, those widowed or divorced with dependent children, or married to another government employee may be given priority. Transfers will take place in April and May every year. However, if situation demands, transfers may be made anytime.

CITY police arrested a 45-year-old cab driver from Tamil Nadu on Tuesday and recovered a bag containing diamond jewellery, a Rolex watch and other valuables worth around Rs 23 lakh, which he stole from the car of actor, choreographer and Bharatanatyam artiste Rukmini Vijayakumar here on Sunday.

Rukmini, 42, a resident of Koramangala, 4th Block, went to Cubbon Park in her car for a morning walk. She had left her bag containing jewellery and other valuables in the car, which she parked near the bus stop on Queen's Road opposite Chinnaswamy Stadium.

She is said to have not locked her car doors. Raza Mohammed Mastan, the accused, who observed it from a distance, took away the bag containing valuables. The incident happened between 8 am and 10 am and Rukmini filed a complaint the same day. The accused was arrested from Mahalakshmi Layout and the valuables were recovered from his house. Rukmini is known for 'Ananda Thandavam', 'Bhajarangi', 'Kochadaiyaan', 'Sita Ramam' .

Ashoka meets cops over girl's murder near rail track

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

LEADER of Opposition in the Assembly, R Ashoka, on Friday, met the Ramanagara SP to get details about the murder of a 14-year-old girl, whose body was found next to a railway track in Bhadrapura of Bidadi taluk, Ramanagara. The victim, a resident of Hakki Pikki Colony in Manchanayakanahalli, was found dead around 7 am on Monday. The Bidadi police have registered a case of murder.

Addressing the media, Ashoka hit out at the Congress government for the deteriorating law and order situation in the state. "Ever since this government has come to power, law and order has failed completely. Every day, cases of murder and rape are reported in the state," he said.

He said the girl's family is firm that she was murdered, and there are also reports indicating that she may have been raped. "The police informed me that they have taken a few suspects into custody and are questioning them. An innocent, poor girl has been murdered, and the police are still confused about the cause of death and are waiting for forensic reports. I have instructed them to conduct a thorough investigation," he added.

"The police said that on May 15 they reviewed several CCTV footage, but the forensic report is more important as it cannot be tampered with. I have directed the SP to ensure meticulous investigation and justice to the victim's family. If justice is not delivered, how can the government be trusted? Nobody even knows who the home minister of the state is. When the situation is such, the opposition has to step up and instruct police officials," Ashoka said.

Govt unlikely to take up discussion on caste survey anytime soon

Facing resistance within cabinet and party, govt in dilemma whether to take it up or drop

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @ Bengaluru

THE state cabinet is likely to wait for the completion of the internal reservation (SC) survey before taking up Karnataka Socio-Economic and Education Survey, popularly known as Caste census, for discussion.

The government has already postponed twice discussion on the caste census in the cabinet. Recently, Law Minister HK Patil said the issue would figure in the next cabinet meeting.

Congress sources, however, said that this is unlikely. Despite Chief Minister Siddaramaiah's insistence, more than 20 ministers have not given their views. And those who have given their views are said back the survey.

On one side, there is resistance within the cabinet. The government is also facing opposition within the party. Speaking to TNIE, a senior Congress leader said there has been opposition for the caste survey among religious heads, political leaders, organisations and, even, individuals.

The government is in a dilemma whether to take it up or drop, as they have spent crores of money on the survey.

Many leaders are also not happy with the report as it was done a decade back, which may not be relevant to some extent.

"The government may not take it up anytime soon, It may be delayed," said the leader.

Transport Minister and senior Congress leader Ramalinga Reddy, who has given a letter to the CM expressing his opinion, said that there has been criticism over not including many households.

"Some people demanded to cancel it, some are demanding for re-survey," he said. Reddy said the Election Commission of India does the electoral work. "Even after the last date, they get calls from people who have not enrolled and make provision for their inclusion. We can also make similar step and urge people/family where they feel their names are left out, they can approach officials and get enrolled. Thus we can reach maximum families. People will also get some trust on this report," he said.

If the government agrees, it may take two more months. We have technology and mechanism. The survey can be completed. Once it is done, it can be discussed in the cabinet

Ramalinga Reddy, Transport Minister

Reddy, however, said this is a long exercise. "If the government agrees, it may take two more months. We have technology and mechanism. The survey can be completed. Once it is done, it can be discussed in the cabinet," he added.

Meanwhile, with the Government holding 'Saadhana Samavesha at Hosapete in Vijayanagara, to mark the completion of two years in power, many of the ministers who fear to lose their cabinet spots are busy going to Delhi and meeting the party leaders.

There is also a set of legislators who are lobbying for cabinet berths. There is a buzz that the government, if the high command agrees, might drop some ministers who are facing allegations and battling charges of non-performance.

Anjaneya: Survey should cover sub-castes

Chikkamagaluru: Congress leader and former minister H Anjaneya said on Friday that they have been fighting for internal reservation for the last 35 years and the state government has now ordered a survey of SC sub-castes. He told reporters here that there are 101 SC sub-castes and the survey should cover each sub-caste for internal reservation. Former chief minister SM Krishna had appointed the Sadashiva Commission for quota among SCs, but its recommendations have not been implemented. However, CM Siddaramaiah is firm on clearing the confusion over internal reservation. Hence, the CM ordered the survey. "This survey is to end on May 17. But we want the government to extend the deadline to cover all rural areas." State governments have the right to extend internal reservation based on the Supreme Court's verdict. ENS

Caste survey step towards social justice: Nagmohan

THE survey has also uncovered attempts at misusing the SC quota, with individuals falsely claiming affiliation to communities like Beda Jangama and Budaga Jangama. Justice Das said, "No one can become an SC by mere self-declaration. Verification will be rigorous. District-level caste verification committees will do it as we are not the authority vested with that power."

Last week, the survey faced technical glitches with server and software operations. Social welfare officers said these issues have been resolved, ensuring smooth data collection.

Justice Nagmohan Das

On enumerators collecting economic details, Justice Das clarified, "The survey also collects economic and social data, aligning with the Supreme Court's directive in the Davinder Singh vs State of Punjab case. A seven-judge Constitution Bench had emphasised the need for scientific data to assess educational and social backwardness and inadequate representation in public employment — critical for internal reservation policies."

He said, "The Court has set a clear mandate — without data, there can be no justice in internal reservation. That's why we're collecting detailed economic indicators."

On data collection in urban areas, he said, "Enumerating data in densely populated urban areas like BBMP zones poses unique logistical challenges." He revealed that a dedicated control room and coordination committee are being set up. Additionally, private school teachers will be enlisted and trained for the task. Multiple enumerators will be deployed in localities with a high concentration of SC households.

An optimistic Justice Das said, "This is not just a survey, it is a step towards social justice and long-overdue recognition for all SC communities."

Cong samavesha to send the message: We have delivered

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Hosapete

ASSERTING that the Congress government implemented Article 371J to ensure the development of Kalyana Karnataka, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah accused the BJP, including the Union government, of failing to allocate even a single paisa to the region. In contrast, the Congress government has released ₹5,000 crore to the Kalyana Karnataka Regional Development Board (KKRDB), he said.

At a press conference after reviewing the preparations for the upcoming Sadhana Samavesha in Hosapete on Friday, the CM said his government has delivered on the promises it had made. "All five guarantees are now being seen as a model for the entire country."

Taking a swipe at the BJP, Siddaramaiah said, "When we announced the five guarantees, BJP leaders, including Prime Minister Narendra Modi, said such schemes couldn't be implemented. But later, they themselves promised similar benefits during assembly elections, including in our neighbouring state, Maharashtra, and won."

Stating that the state's capital expenditure stands at Rs 83,000 crore, which is an increase of around Rs 30,000 crore compared to the previous year, he said despite reserving funds for the five guarantees, the government is also pushing forward with numerous developmental projects. "Through the Sadhana Samavesha in Hosapete, we are sending a clear message that our government is delivering both welfare and development."

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, DCM DK Shivakumar and their cabinet colleagues inspect the preparations for the Sadhana Samavesha in Hosapete on Friday | EXPRESS

The CM also announced that the government would soon distribute title deeds to over one lakh beneficiaries. He criticised the PM for failing to fulfill his promise of issuing 50,000 title deeds in Sedam taluk. "Unlike him, we are actually delivering to over one lakh families," he said.

The Sadhana Samavesha, scheduled here on May 20, is expected to draw a crowd of nearly three lakh. The top Congress leadership, including AICC president Mallikarjun Kharge, Rahul Gandhi and Priyanka Gandhi, has been invited. Given the official nature of the event, Union ministers and Opposition leaders in the state have also been invited, Siddaramaiah added.

Deputy Chief Minister D K Shivakumar said all five guarantees would continue as promised. "There is no confusion among the public, although the BJP tried to mislead people by claiming that the schemes would be withdrawn. The government has shown what good governance looks like under the Congress."

On the issue of the Navale parallel dam, Shivakumar said he will soon meet the chief ministers of the two states involved to seek a permanent solution.

BJP, JDS SLAM CONGRESS MLA FOR 'BELITTLING' OP SINDOOR

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Kolar/Bengaluru

THE opposition BJP and JDS have slammed Kolar Congress MLA Kothur Manjunath for belittling Operation Sindoor carried out by the Indian Armed Forces in retaliation against the Pahalgam terror attack in which 26 persons were killed.

Speaking to the media in Kolar on Friday, Manjunath expressed scepticism about the effectiveness of the operation. "Apart from sending four fighter jets to bomb nine terrorist camps in Pakistan, what else has the government done? Is that all the value we place on the Arishina Kumkuma (turmeric and vermillion) of 26 women?" he said.

"The government claims to have killed a few terrorists during Operation Sindoor, but nothing has been confirmed except in the media. If terrorists can enter our country, kill our people and escape unscathed, isn't that a glaring security failure? What was our army doing at the border? Did they have any plan at all?"

Leader of the Opposition in the Assembly R Ashoka hit back at Manjunath, terming the remarks as insensitive, likening his mindset to Karnataka CM Siddaramaiah.

"After CM @siddaramaiah became an overnight star in Pakistan media for his "no war needed" remarks, it looks like another @INCKarnataka leader is eager to become a star in Pakistan media. Such a shame that Karnataka Congress MLA raises doubts on #OperationSindoor and insults our Armed Forces (sic)," Ashoka posted on X.

The JDS posted: "Every time the Indian Army carries out operations against Pakistani terrorists, Congressmen continue to insult the Army by demanding evidence. The entire world is admiring and celebrating the bravery and valour of Indian soldiers in "Operation Sindoor". It is tragic that only Congressmen are asking for evidence, displaying low intellect and poor taste."

Cong leaders should think before shooting mouth in public: Joshi

Hubballi: Chiding Congress leaders for off-the-cuff remarks on the Operation Sindoor, Union Minister for Food, Public Distribution and Consumer Affairs and New and Renewable Energy Pralhad Joshi asked the party leadership to first think what should be said in public. Speaking to the media here on Friday, he said during the Congress regime in the past, there were many terrorist activities. The then government did not show the political will that was shown by the Narendra Modi government, he added. Accusing the grand old party of speaking in the language of Pakistan, Joshi said when the neighbouring country claimed "Hindu terror", Congress leaders also echoed the same. During the abrogation of Article 371, Pakistan called it a black day and so did the Congress. All such remarks by Congress leaders end up helping Pakistan. Hailing Operation Sindoor, the Union minister said the country has given a befitting response to Pakistan. ENS

'Will file our objections to government'

TO oppose the decision to revise licence renewal fees, the members of the Karnataka Wine Merchants Association held a preliminary meeting on Friday. "We had a preliminary discussion today. We will take a final stand by Monday after another round of discussion," Association President Govindraj Hegde told TNIE.

Another member of the Association said the government's proposal will have a negative impact on the liquor business which has already become highly competitive reducing the profit margins of the wine shop owners almost to the nil. "I feel at least 10% to 15% of licensees will not renew their licences," he said.

"The government must understand that the licence is only a means to run a business and it should not be seen as a source of income. The 100% increase will definitely burden the distillers and brewers," said Shivalingaiah, General Secretary, Association of Distilleries and Brewers. The association has called a meeting of its members on Saturday to discuss the issue. "We will definitely file our objections to the Government," he added.

Proposed licence fees

Breweries	₹54 lakh
Distilleries	₹90 lakh
Bars In city corporation	₹12 lakh
Star hotels	₹20 lakh
Refreshment room (bar) at International airport	₹25 lakh
Retail liquor shops	₹12 lakh
Retail liquor shops In towns	₹8 lakh to ₹10 lakh
Clubs serving alcohols	₹4 lakh to ₹13 lakh

As tribals continue sit-in, Nagarhole relocation programme under scanner

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

WITH a group of tribals claiming to be Jenu Kurubas staking claim over forest land in Nagarhole Tiger Reserve (NTR) since May 5, the issue has now caught the attention of the Ministry of Environment, Forests and Climate Change.

PA Seema, Director, NTR, said that as on date, 1,800 families continue to stay inside NTR. "They have been given forest rights. But the 150-200 people who illegally entered NTR, on May 5, 2025, are not forest dwellers. They stay around coffee estates and now sit in protest in groups of 30-35 on rotation basis. All old applications demanding forest rights have been cancelled. Now 50 fresh applications are before Kodagu district administration," she said.

The Forest Rights Act came into existence in 2008. It recognizes the rights for habitation/self cultivation of tribals/dwellers who were actual occupants of forest land as on December 13, 2005. These people have to be staying inside for at least 75 years. NTR data shows the last tribal relocation was done in 2016-17.

Experts and forest officials admit to the gaps and ineffective implementation of the voluntary tribal relocation programme over the years in NTR which has led to the present situation.

They said that despite financial assistance offered to tribals under various schemes from central and state governments, many continue to remain deprived.

"There is a lack of political and administrative leadership in NTR. There are no dwellers inside Bandipur and Bhadra tiger reserves. A few haadis continue inside Kali Tiger Reserve, but there is no problem like in NTR. The recent statements of Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and district MLAs to provide all facilities inside forests have further ignited the issue," admitted a forest department official, not wanting to be identified.

Rs 14,925.81 crore was allocated in the 2025-26 Union budget for the scheduled tribes. Also Rs 80,000 crore was allocated under Pradhan Mantri Adi Adarsh Gram Yojana, Rs 7,088.60 crore under Eklavya Model Residential Schools, Rs 335.97 crore under Pradhan Mantri Adi Adarsh Gram Yojana and Rs 300 crore for multipurpose centre under Pradhan Mantri Janjati Adivasi Nyaya Maha Abhiyan supporting the Particularly Vulnerable Tribal Groups (PVTG).

In Karnataka Jenu Kurubas and Koragas are listed under PVTG. As per Scheduled Tribal Welfare Department (STWD), there are around 15,000 registered Jenu Kurubas and 35,000 Koragas. They reside in Chamarajanagar, Mysuru, Kodagu, Dakshin Kannada and Udupi.

Citing an example, Yogesh T, Director, STWD, explained if tribals get Rs 2.39 lakh from the central government, then Rs 2 lakh is added from the state for housing.

"All government departments' schemes are open for the tribals. Their allegation that no funds are being given is false. There are nine line departments offering around 11 financial interventions," he said.

The issue has now also caught the state government on the back foot. From September 2019 to July 2024, the Forest Survey of India (FSI), on the directions of the Supreme Court, has sent eight reminders to the Karnataka Government to submit details of the received and rejected claims and geo-referenced polygons and encroachment records.

In 2019, the state government had submitted to the Supreme Court hearing the forest rights case that a total of 1,76,540 claims were rejected.

"The final report is yet to be submitted. The survey was being done when these forest dwellers got a whiff of it and entered NTR demanding their names be included in the list," said an NTR official, seeking anonymity.

There is also confusion among state government departments over the relocation programme. While Social and Tribal Welfare Departments are pressing forest dwellers to stay inside forests, the Forest Department is trying to convince them to opt for voluntary relocation and chose between the two schemes--cash compensation of Rs 15 lakh to each of the adult children along with Rs 15 lakh to the aged couple or government land and cash compensation along with job.

"While we want the original dwellers to stay inside forests to get their rights, the relocation programme is being handled by the forest department. Even if they come out of the forests, the financial schemes of the state and central government will continue as it is for the community," said a social welfare department official, seeking anonymity.

₹ 1K-CRORE TASMAC 'SCAM': ED SEARCHES HOUSES OF MD, BIZMEN

Sources: He was taken to agency office, questioned for 4 hrs, let off

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Chennai

THE Enforcement Directorate on Friday conducted searches at 10 places, including the house of S Visakan, Tasmac managing director, as part of its investigation into the alleged ₹1,000 crore scam in the government-owned liquor marketing company. According to sources, ED officials had found printouts of what seemed to be WhatsApp conversations strewn outside the officer's house. Visakan was later taken to the ED office in Nungambakkam for questioning and let off after four hours, sources said.

The ED began its searches around 8am at places linked to businessmen, government officials, and contractors who allegedly acted as conduits for laundering bribe money, sources said. Apart from Visakan's home at Manapakkam in Chennai, ED officials also searched properties linked to film producer Akash Bhaskaran of Dawn Pictures and AP Keshav Selvi of KS Smart Solutions, a tech firm that had won contracts from several state departments. Properties linked to Ratheesh Velu, a Chennai resident who is said to be close to several top government officials, an executive of a bottling firm allegedly linked to Tasmac, and a few other contractors were among those searched. The ED has not issued an official statement on the operation.

The searches were carried out to collect evidence for the Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA) case booked by the agency based on 41 FIRs registered in the past by the Directorate of Vigilance and Anti-Corruption (DVAC) regarding the alleged corruption in Tasmac. The first set of searches was conducted in the first week of March at Tasmac's office in Egmore and at the offices of various distilleries and bottling units that supply liquor to the government firm.

In an official statement on March 13, the ED had alleged a massive scam in the TN's liquor business, claiming that cash generated through illicit sales was used to pay ₹1,000 crore of kickbacks. The agency also claimed that it had found incriminating data related to transfer postings, transport tender, bar licence tender, indent orders favouring a few distillery companies, and evidence to show collection of ₹10 to ₹30 excess money per bottle from consumers at Tasmac outlets. The ED had also alleged evidence of manipulation in Tasmac's transport tender allocations.

YATHIRAJU @ Bengaluru

THE recent visit of Upa Lokayukta Justice B Veerappa to the villages in Tekal hobli of Malur taluk in Kolar district has revealed shocking findings about a dozen stone quarries and stone-crushing units excavating more than 300 ft deep, violating norms like exceeding permissible digging limits and lack of safety measures and border stones and fencing, among others.

Justice Veerappa ordered a case against 18 officials of the Mines and Geology, Public Works, Revenue, Survey, Labour departments, Bescom, Regional Transport Officer, Environment Officer and others of the district and issued notice to them. Among other violations, a stone-crushing unit is running in Sy.No. 186, Makarahalli, even after the expiry of the lease in 2021.

Justice Veerappa sought details like how many stone quarries and crushers are licensed and how many are operating without permits, illegal mining, and transport of murram and sand. Apart from this, he also directed them to furnish other details, such as whether a Mineral Dispatch Permit under Rule 42(1) of the KMCC Rules is issued and is being regularly supervised; if there are violations, how many cases are registered; whether all vehicles for the transport of minor minerals are registered for that purpose; and cases registered for non-installation of GPS and violation of prescribed routes for transport of minor minerals.

Further, he directed the authorities to explain whether the lease mining area is protected by a fence and has a 7.5-meter buffer zone, how many cases are registered for violation of the permit and conditions of licenses, and any action taken to rehabilitate the mining sites (excavation made up to 100 ft beneath the earth).

"According to the norms of the Mines and Geology Department and the Mining Act 1952, only a 6 mtrs (19.5 ft) deep stone quarry can be permitted. For more than this limit, approval has to be obtained from the Director General of Mines Safety, Government of India," Geologist MK Vishwanath, who was present on the spot, informed the Upa Lokayukta.

The Upa Lokayukta, however, noticed that stone quarry owners were indulging in quarrying for more than 200 ft deep without having any approval from the Union Government and have also not produced a quarry plan or records.

'Will support K'taka to enhance public transport'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

UNION Minister for Heavy Industries and Steel HD Kumaraswamy assured the Union Government's complete support to the Karnataka government's move to enhance the public transport system in the key cities.

The Ministry of Heavy Industries received a formal proposal from the State Government seeking allocation of electric buses under the Centrally-sponsored PM E-Drive initiative. Karnataka Transport Minister Ramalinga Reddy submitted the state's request, citing the need for enhanced urban public transport systems in key cities, read a statement from the Union Minister's office.

Kumaraswamy said that the process of allocation is already underway and that Karnataka will receive electric buses in a phased and prioritised manner. "I will ensure that Karnataka receives all due support from the Government of India," Kumaraswamy said. He said that under the leadership of Prime Minister Narendra Modi, they are transforming public mobility across India, and Karnataka will receive buses under the PM E-Drive.

According to the statement from the minister's office, 14,000 electric buses are to be allocated to 9 major cities under the PM E-Drive initiative and the scheme has an outlay of Rs 10,900 crore over a period of two years from April 1,.2024 to March 31, 2026.

'Won ISKCON's long fight for Prabhupada's legacy'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

AFTER the Supreme Court ordered that the famous Hare Krishna Hill temple in Rajajinagar belongs solely to the ISKCON-Bangalore Society and not to ISKCON-Mumbai, Sri Madhu Pandit Dasa, President of ISKCON-Bangalore, said the internal ISKCON battle was never just about property — it was a long fight to uphold the spiritual legacy of Srila Prabhupada, the founder acharya of ISKCON. "They can no longer expel thousands of devotees who wish to accept only Srila Prabhupada as the sole acharya of ISKCON," he said, reiterating that Prabhupada had set up a Ritvik system where all devotees would remain his disciples even after his passing.

The Supreme Court's verdict on Friday marks the end of a 24-year legal and ideological battle between the ISKCON societies of Bengaluru and Mumbai. The apex court upheld ISKCON-Bangalore's independent legal identity and confirmed that the temple land had been allotted to it by the Bangalore Development Authority (BDA) in 1988. The court also barred ISKCON-Mumbai from interfering in the administration or affairs of the Bangalore society.

What triggered the dispute was the question of spiritual succession within ISKCON after Srila Prabhupada's Maha Samadhi in 1977. ISKCON-Bangalore has long opposed the idea of self-appointed successors or "gurus" leading the organisation. According to them, Srila Prabhupada had clearly outlined a Ritvik initiation system, under which he would remain the sole initiating spiritual master for all time, with representatives performing ceremonies on his behalf.

Following his death, however, several, mainly from Western countries, declared themselves as acharyas. This led to the formation of a parallel leadership structure and a growing rift within ISKCON globally. Madhu Pandit Dasa and his team resisted this change, insisting on preserving Srila Prabhupada's original teachings and system.

Things escalated in 1999-2000 when ISKCON-Mumbai attempted to take control of the Hare Krishna Hill temple in Bengaluru, though the temple was built with funds raised locally and operated by the ISKCON-Bangalore society. What began as a spiritual disagreement turned into a prolonged legal struggle over control of the temple and the right to represent Srila Prabhupada's legacy.

Madhu Pandit Dasa, who also heads The Akshaya Patra Foundation and the Global Hare Krishna Movement, said the verdict ensures that devotees can peacefully follow the path Srila Prabhupada laid down, without being forced to accept any other guru or authority in his place.

After Prabhupada's death, dissenters to the new guru system across the world reportedly faced harassment, intimidation, and even violence. The most extreme case was the 1984 murder of Sulochana Das, an outspoken critic of the successor gurus. ISKCON-Bangalore claimed that their devotees, too, faced attempts of expulsion and marginalisation for not aligning with ISKCON-Mumbai's leadership.

Over 15K ASHA workers to get ₹1,000 monthly incentive

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

AFTER being left out of the existing incentive system, 15,004 Accredited Social Health Activist (ASHA) workers in Karnataka — those working in health sub-centres and urban areas not yet upgraded to Ayushman Arogya Mandirs — will now receive a monthly team-based incentive of Rs 1,000. To make this possible, the Karnataka government approved an additional grant of Rs 1,800.48 lakh.

This move is based on this year's budget speech, which had earlier mentioned the incentive but without a clear implementation for those outside the Ayushman network. With the new order, the benefit has been officially extended to ASHA workers who were previously excluded due to the lack of Ayushman Arogya Mandir status in their work areas.

The team-based incentive, introduced under the Ayushman Arogya Mandir initiative, encourages better coordination among field-level healthcare staff. Under the scheme - primary health officers and health inspectors will receive an incentive of Rs 1,500 per month while ASHA workers will get Rs 1,000 per month as incentives.

Until this update, only those ASHA workers in areas already functioning as Ayushman Arogya Mandirs were getting the incentive. The latest government order ensures all ASHA workers across the state are now included.

In Karnataka, each ASHA worker is assigned to 1,000 people in rural areas and 2,500 in urban regions. The state has sanctioned 42,524 such posts under the National Health Mission, with nearly 41,000 workers currently active.

Suspension of licence of AR Dairy set aside

JEGADEESWARI PANDIAN @ Madurai

THE Madurai Bench of Madras High Court on Friday set aside the suspension of licence of AR Dairy Food Private Limited, which had been withheld after the firm allegedly supplying substandard ghee to the prasadam unit of Tirumala Tirupati Devasthanam (TTD).

Justice V Lakshminarayan remitted the matter back to the Central Licensing Authority under Food Safety and Standards Act, 2006 for reconsideration within a month, adding that the designated officer should pass an order whether to suspend the company's licence for all its activities, or for manufacturing, transportation and sale of ghee alone. (Full report: www. newindianexpress.com)

SIDDU TAKES PART IN ULLAL DARGAH UROOS, CALLS UPON PEOPLE TO PROMOTE HUMANITY

MANGALURU: Karnataka Chief Minister Siddaramaiah on Friday participated in the 22nd Uroos at Ullal Dargah in Dakshina Kannada, and called upon people to promote humanity. Siddaramaiah said, "We are humans first, then Indians, Hindus and Muslims. We need to promote humanity. Our government treats everyone as equal as per the ideals of the Constitution." He further said that India has seen many social reformers who propagated humanity. "Hence, we have a responsibility to unite the society on the basis of human values. People of every caste and religion visit Ullal dargah. It is the dargah of poor from all faiths. Our government has launched programmes which benefits people of all communities," he said. ENS

Experts urge alternatives to Bengaluru-Tumakuru Metro plan

INDRA S @ Bengaluru

MOBILITY experts suggest finding alternative transport models to Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Limited's (BMRCL) proposed Metro line from Bengaluru to Tumakuru. However, BMRCL officials have already submitted the feasibility report of the 56.6 km stretch to connect the two cities.

"The distance between Bengaluru and Tumakuru is over 70 km, mostly travelled by office and factory workers during peak hours. Ideally, the journey would take 60-75 minutes. But for Metros, designed for short city trips with frequent stops, it would take nearly two hours for this route. Hence, passengers expect a fast and comfortable option with seating, as standing for over an hour isn't ideal," said mobility expert Sanjeev V Dyamannavar.

"Extending suburban rail with limited stops similar to Delhi's RRTS or Mumbai's fast local/slow local trains would be better," he said, adding that there are all possibilities that the project, if implemented, may prove to be a white elephant.

Ashish Verma, professor of transportation systems engineering at IISc, also voiced the same concern. "The Bengaluru-Tumakuru corridor falls outside Bengaluru Metropolitan region. Metro trains' average speed is 30 km/h due to frequent stops, meaning travel on this route could take 2.5-3 hours, making it unsuitable for daily commuters. Suburban trains or semi-high-speed systems can cover the same distance in 60-75 minutes with speeds of 100-160 kmph and limited halts. Public transport expansion is welcomed, but an analysis of alternatives, comparing metro, suburban rail, and RRTS, is essential to identify the most efficient and cost-effective solution for this stretch," he said. The DPR has been submitted to the State Government and awaits approval. After state clears it, the project will require Central Government's nod.

Stations proposed

The line is proposed to have 25 elevated stations stretching from Madavara on the existing Green Line to Shira Gate in Tumakuru. According to the DPR, the corridor will pass through key locations such as Makali, Nelamangala, and Dabaspet.

Karnataka to geo-tag visiting olive ridley turtles

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

KARNATAKA will be the second Indian state after Maharashtra to geo-tag olive ridley turtles that visit the state's coast annually.

These geo-tags will not just have the identification number given by the State Government for others to report, but also track the movement of the turtles.

Elaborating, Haliyal Deputy Conservator of Forests Prashanth Kumar, who is also doing his PhD on this topic, said that when a turtle visits the Karnataka coast to lay eggs, a Precision Time Protection (PTP) tag will be clipped onto its back. Their nestings are found in Karwar, Honnavar, Kundapur, Udupi, and Mangaluru in Karnataka. The olive ridleys also visit Tamil Nadu, Goa, Maharashtra, and Odisha to lay eggs from December to May.

Each state will maintain a record of the geo-tagged turtles that visit their coast to lay eggs, and the same will be shared with the state that originally tagged the turtle and also other states to keep track of the turtles. To ensure this, the forest department is working in coordination with the Wildlife Institute of India and the Karnataka Biodiversity Board.

The need for geo-tagging rose due to multiple reasons. While some coasts are seeing a decline in the arrivals of the migratory species for nesting due to human interventions, others are seeing an increase.

"Sea sand erosion is on the rise, and multiple human interventions, like rocks and large stones, are put on the beaches to control it. Now, these turtles need at least 10-30 meters of free sand space from the ocean when they arrive to lay eggs. If there is any obstacle, they skip the location and go elsewhere. To understand and track them, geo-tagging is necessary," Conservator of Forests, Canara Circle, KV Vasanath Reddy said.

It is also known that the olive ridley turtles visit the same location to lay their eggs annually. To maintain this natural cycle, geo-tagging is essential, said foresters from the field in Karwar.

Marine expert MD Subashchandran said that due to increased awareness and protection measures taken up by involving the local population, there is a rise in nesting locations along the Karnataka coastline. The forest department also offers cash prizes to fishermen who inform them of nesting locations and poachers. Geo-tagging will help improve vigilance, he added.

Accused in judicial custody

"But Sanjay fell along with the bike and banged his head against the shutters of a pharmacy and the pavement. He was admitted to a hospital, where he died on Tuesday," the police said.

The Subramanyapura police had first filed an attempt to murder case against Pratheek and later turned it into a murder charge after Sanjay's death. He has been remanded in judicial custody. "Pratheek, a BCom graduate, was working as a manager in a private firm. His wife did not have any role in the crime," the officer added.

TELANGANA CAUGHT IN 'DEVELOPMENT' VERSUS ECOLOGY GAMBLE

THE Telangana government faced a rap from the Supreme Court in the dispute over the Kancha Gachibowli land parcel near the University of Hyderabad. Going by Chief Justice BR Gavai's observations, concerned government officials will go to jail if the deforested portion of the forest area is not restored. The matter is sub judice, and this is the inference drawn from the court hearing on May 15. What the government informs the court at the next hearing on July 23 is in the realm of the unknown for now.

For the government, it is a complicated maze. It would have been easier if it were a simple case of withdrawing a decision. The government wanted an IT park and an eco-park on the 400-acre land parcel it managed to acquire after a nearly two-decade dispute over its ownership ended in its favour. In the meantime, the parcel, adjacent to a protected forested region, developed all the hallmarks of a forest, at least enough to be deemed one, as per the Supreme Court verdict in the TN Godavarman Thirumulpad vs Union of India case. So, it was not, as the government initially argued, about ownership. Sure, it does own the land, but it ought not to have sent bulldozers over a weekend and razed down about 1,500 trees, including nearly 1,399 exempted ones. The court-appointed Central Empowered Committee, which submitted its report, made this clear enough and even recommended that the land parcel be declared a forest and overseen by the forest department. We must also point out that in these past few months, the state government has raised ₹10,000 crore through bonds by putting up the land as collateral.

This case transcends the disputed 400 acres. It strikes at the heart of India's failing environmental governance, where the absence of specific land-use laws enables such precipitous acts in the name of "development". The implications of the Supreme Court's verdict will be profound. Should the court uphold the forest designation of this land, a precedent will be set that ecological reality trumps a bureaucratic attempt to determine forest status. That would strengthen the student-led conservation efforts. However, clarity is needed on whether the government's "public interest" argument for acquiring the land for its IT park trumps the need to preserve green spaces.

RELIABLE DATA MUST TO ASSESS JOB SCENE

INDIA'S unemployment rate stood at 5.1 percent in April, according to the country's first-ever monthly Periodic Labour Force Survey (PLFS) report. Youth unemployment, or the jobless rate of those aged between 15 and 29, stood at 13.8 percent. Urban areas recorded higher joblessness at 6.5 percent. In other words, 14 out of every 100 youth cannot find work. Individuals in this age bracket are usually first-time entrants to the labour force, which is why this metric is a critical indicator of the overall employment scenario. Given that over half the population is under 30, a persistent high youth unemployment rate suggests the economy struggles to generate enough entry-level, skilled jobs. April's headline unemployment rate was also slightly higher than the 4.9% recorded in 2024, but the government insists that the figures aren't comparable due to different sampling methodologies. Lastly, the survey pegged the labour force participation rate (LFPR), or the share of people either working or actively seeking work, at 4.2 percent in April.

The monthly jobs data has been the missing link. However, it now offers a real-time assessment of employment trends and will significantly help policy intervention. Interestingly, the National Statistics Office has also revamped the methodology for monthly surveys and is using a rotational panel sampling design, which involves visiting each selected household four times over four consecutive months. Currently, PLFS provides only quarterly labour market indicators for urban areas. This will change with the first quarterly bulletin of PLFS covering both rural and urban areas coming out in August. Moving forward, the annual PLFS survey data will also be released on a calendar year basis, i.e., survey period of January-December, replacing the current practice of a July-June reporting cycle. This change, along with the unit-level data, will facilitate comprehensive analysis of labour market performance and employment scenario in all geographies and throughout the year.

Amid the prevailing global macro-economic challenges, India's employment landscape is under pressure, with urban joblessness notably higher than national averages. If the high unemployment rate is one pressing concern, data accuracy is another. Long criticised for producing controversial job data, the government has come a long way and has improved the survey design and methodologies. That said, it's also essential to ensure that the survey data remains accurate, timely, and reliable.

QUICK TAKE

SCAN FOR RADIATION RISK

A recent study has predicted a risk of cancers from routine use of Computer Tomography scans. The April 2025 American study examines 93 million CT scans on 62 million patients in the US in 2023 to project that such recurrent scanning could lead a lakh of them to future cancers. The risk appears relatively low as a percentage, but calls for a threat assessment when frequent scans are advised. In India, doctors also recommend CT scans for most internal studies. Patients must discuss the risks and benefits of repeated exposures. In the future, AI algorithms could be integrated into CT systems to enhance image quality through minimal radiation doses.

BRANDING AND MESSAGING OF A CONFLICT

HARISH BIJOOR

Brand Guru & founder, Harish Bijoor Consults

THE week gone by has been one of tremendous tumult. On May 7, "Operation Sindoor" began. India launched carefully calibrated missile strikes at terror hubs of Jaish-e-Mohammed and Lakshar-e-Taiba in Pakistan, causing quick damage and in many ways told Pakistan that India will not be a quiet bystander if terror groups nurtured and protected within that country hurt Indians. The nation was expecting retribution, and these strikes, quite within the philosophy of previous surgical strikes India has carried out in response to terror attacks (Balakot and Uri included) within Pakistan, were India's response to the dastardly Pahalgam attack on tourists.

Pakistan responded, targeting military installations within India. Mortar shelling across some of the 3,323-km border with Pakistan began, as did drone attacks that hurt and killed many. At this point, we are not too sure of the number of casualties in both countries, but the output of this skirmish has been many lives, civilian and military.

What began all of a sudden has died down at the same pace, it seems. A ceasefire (apparently mediated by the USA) is in place. There is much to learn (and a lot to praise and berate) from this skirmish. Let me list a few from the perspective perch I sit upon. Do take it with a pinch of salt, if not a whole shovel, but consider it for whatever it is worth. My top five.

One, what a brand name! We must doff our hats to PM Narendra Modi for picking this evocative, relevant, original and innovative name. The name tells it all. The accompanying visuals tell it even more evocatively. The brand name clearly showcases the strikes' intent. There is no doubt why this action was launched. The word Sindoor has always evoked strong emotional responses in India and the Hindu diaspora worldwide. The Pahalgam killing did attack the "Sindoor" on many a forehead. Operation Sindoor, to that extent, is showcased clearly as a well-thought-out act of retribution for the senseless but planned Pahalgam massacre.

Operation Sindoor was crisp and clear in its intent. There was a rush to register the name as a title for future creative works in the realm of cinema, books, and more that could come by. The "I want it first" mentality became somewhat of a creative-vulturism exercise, though. Expect books, movies, and OTT shows to happen in the near and medium-term future. Marketing-vulturism (if I may call it that) did not spare a rather sensitive moment, such as a near-war skirmish, even.

Two, Operation Sindoor saw a very savvy communication exercise put into place by the government. The daily press briefings with Foreign Secretary Vikram Misri in the middle and two thoroughly composed women armed forces officers, in the guise of Colonel Sofiya Qureshi and Wing Commander Vyomika Singh, brought dignity, bravado and calm composure to the briefings. Two women officers were leading the show out here, just as the Pahalgam attacks had purposively killed the men and gone after the 'Sindoor' of the women involved. Additionally, it was clear to the world that India does not distinguish between one religion and another, and that we remain a very secular country with respect for every religion. The distinction in imagery of the two sets of briefings done by Pakistan and India was clear and in-the-face. And the world watched. In sheer communication terms, this was a coup of sorts as well. He, she or they who thought this out has done it well.

SOURAV ROY

Three, after decades, we are witnessing what I will call information warfare at its best or worst. In the dissemination of information, there is a reliable source, which is the government, and then there is the non-government actor (NGA). The NGA are really a set of people at times prompted by governments in rogue nations to put out totally false and completely propaganda-oriented information. Pakistan did precisely this, and, therefore, we had reports of "Bangalore Port being bombed" by Pakistan, just as we had reports of India bombing its religious places to create tumult. Or the piece of fiction that India bombed religious places with malicious intent. The idea is to create fear and chaos. Everything is fair in love and war, you see.

This time, the NGA had media and digital actors joining the melee of disinformation spread. Digital platforms such as X (and Y and Z) had misinformation of every kind in terms of text and video evidence. One of the biggest viral items that went digitally berserk for a while was the news of a coup in the Pakistan's army establishment with General Asim Munir, Chief of the Pakistan Army, arrested. And everyone joined the party, till realisation dawned that it was yet another piece of false news.

Four, fake news had a bull run during this skirmish. Many established and reputed television channels that thrive on the fastest-finger-first syndrome in breaking news had mud on their faces. With digital distrust reigning high, even television news channels suffered a lack of credibility. What worsened the situation was the tone, tenor and decibel these channels used to convey the crisis with an eye on TRPs. Television anchors offered news as it broke, and broke the news further based on their bits of analysis and bites of bias. Jingoism ruled and made many viewers switch off and look for a saner medium to get the correct and basic information.

In this search, print gained. All of a sudden, the best medium to look for news you could trust was print. The daily newspaper, curated by an editor and put down in undeletable black-and-white print, was the go-to medium. In times of a crisis such as this, people do look for news without emotion, news without shouting, and news without drama. Print gave just that.

Five, social media represented the ultimate frontier in the communication melee of the skirmish. What began with sanity showed an ability to go berserk and insane, even. Every Tom, Dick and Harish with a social media account became an armchair expert of geopolitics, war and news analysis. The angry-young-man and angry-young-woman emerged on many social media handles. Everybody was so riled about literally everything. Everybody was an expert. Everybody wanted a shout. Everybody offered a rant. Everyone wanted to pull somebody's eyes out, if not their guts. If social media were a battlefield, everyone across the enemy border would be dead. The world would be an empty place. The passion was high, and the anger higher still. 'Armchairism' had a heyday for sure.

With that, let me close and hope peace prevails. As should good sense.

THE 'COMMON ENEMY' STRATEGY AND NEIGHBOURLY INTEGRATION

PRATIK KANJILAL

Fellow, Henry J Leir Institute of igration and Human Security, Fletcher School, Tufts University

SPEAKEASY

INDIA and Pakistan are shrouded in the fog of war, which is peopled by phantoms. The 1971 India-Pakistan war, which created Bangladesh, changed the map of South Asia. Three years later, India tested a nuclear bomb, upsetting the world order. Those were exciting times, but many people who bore witness developed a healthy aversion to war, until all other possibilities were exhausted.

Now, the Indian people are exhausted after decades of terrorism. Public grief and disgust at the killings in Pahalgam have made revenge drama inevitable. The nuclear-armed neighbours are now on a familiar spiral of incremental brinkmanship, and the fog shows no signs of lifting. However, a little reality is visible amidst the phantoms of unverified claims and counter-claims.

First, we can see that India and Pakistan are so polarised that it takes an external threat to unite their political parties. This means their politicians are no longer conversant with the civilised art of reaching across the aisle. It was definitely a feature of Indian politics earlier.

Second, India has always excluded foreign brokers and insisted on bilateral talks on Kashmir. However, the scale of the present conflict is inviting intervention. The UK, which has concluded a trade deal with India, says it can help. US President Donald Trump has also offered his services. An international chorus is telling both countries to ground the missiles.

Let us assume that happens, and the current conflict recedes instead of becoming the new normal. What happens next? Are we doomed to revisit this crisis again? Clashes concerning honour are usually cyclical. However, the existence of the European Union shows that imaginative interventions can halt even the longest cycles.

Europe has been at war from classical times. In the modern era, it topped the endurance test for warmaking. It had the Thirty Years' War and the Hundred Years' War. Its colonial nations fought offshore wars. It invented and perpetuated world wars—if the Allied Powers, especially France, had not humiliated Germany with the Treaty of Versailles, which ended World War I, Hitler may not have inherited the political capital of German resentment. It is a cautionary lesson for nations which want to squeeze troublesome neighbours too hard.

However, in 1992, just three years after the Berlin Wall collapsed, the European nations, sick of war, forged a treaty at Maastricht which used economic and financial unification to end Europe's most persistent political problem. The reasoning, which many nations, including India, viewed with scepticism, was that if the fortunes of historically fractious neighbours could be entangled, they would not wage war for fear of harming themselves. It's an economic version of MAD, mutually assured destruction, the creepy notion on which détente rests. Like MAD, it just worked.

AFP

In South Asia, a durable people-to-people movement has risen in response to the India-Pakistan rivalry, but unlike in Europe, the vicious cycle remains intact. Indeed, every iteration of the conflict is a little worse, and the current contest turns the page

In Europe, the idea of integration was afloat long before Maastricht. For instance, the Jaguar fighter, which remains in service only in India, was conceived in the 1960s as a joint venture between Breguet of France and the British Aircraft Corporation. The Eurofighter Typhoon was also developed jointly by the UK, Germany, Italy and Spain. These ventures date from the Cold War, when nations were very secretive about their capabilities.

In South Asia, a durable people-to-people movement has risen in response to the India-Pakistan rivalry, but unlike in Europe, the vicious cycle remains intact. Indeed, every iteration of the conflict is a little worse, and the current contest turns the page. The Pahalgam killings were suitable for television and social media, and were carefully crafted to push public sentiment in India over the edge. The response, too, was calibrated and packaged, complete with a vermilion logo and women officers addressing a briefing. While two nations clashed earlier, the imagery of a religious identity has been invoked now.

In his first response, US President Donald Trump said that the rivalry in South Asia is decades old. Then, he hiked it to "centuries". Commentators smirked because India and Pakistan didn't exist centuries ago, but Trump wasn't entirely wrong. Pakistan was created on the basis of a religious identity which is centuries old, and on Jinnah's belief that Hindus and Muslims are fundamentally different.

This belief is open to question, but equally, the record suggests that the story of Hindu-Muslim amity down the ages is not completely factual. However, in the past, they handled differences better. In the school history class, we also learned of Hindu-Muslim matrimonial alliances. Akbar's strategic marriages have reached the cinema, but Jahangir and Shah Jahan also married elite Hindu women. Maharaja Amar Singh of Mewar married Akbar's daughter Khanum in a political alliance. Maharaja Chhatrasal Bundela married Persian Ruhani Bai. Their child, Mastani, married Bajirao I, and they have also made it to the movies.

Times, however, have changed. If marriages between elite Indians and Pakistanis had offered a solution, we would have been at peace long ago. Pakistan is not in good financial health, so economic connections on European lines are unthinkable, but geography dictates that we have to get along. After the fog of war clears, we'll have to think of something for the long term. Since all other options are exhausted, it would have to be a novelty: maybe an external threat which menaces India and Pakistan equally.

LAWS AFTER LEGISLATIVE PLAY AND GUV ASSENT

VISMAY BASU @ New Delhi

AROUND half of the laws passed across Indian states in the past year focused on three key areas: education, finance, and local governance, an analysis by PRS Legislative Research showed.

Among the more notable laws was the Uttarakhand Uniform Civil Code, making it the first state to enact such legislation. West Bengal passed the Aparajita Act, introducing stricter penalties for rape. Several states brought in laws to curb cheating and unfair practices in public examinations, reflecting growing concern over exam integrity.

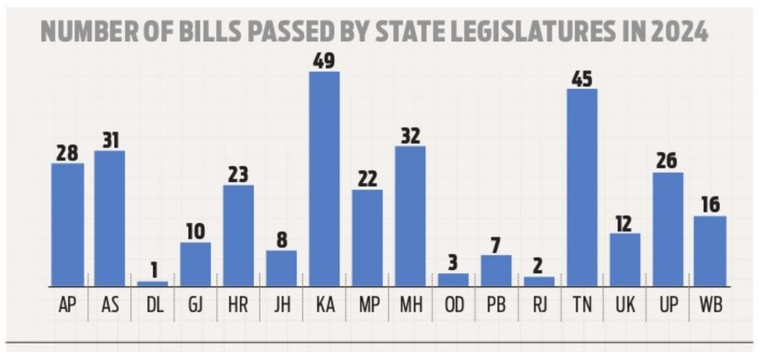
In the education sector, Haryana enacted a law to regulate private coaching institutes, while Madhya Pradesh introduced legislation to control private school fees. Maharashtra passed a law granting 10% reservation for Marathas in education and government jobs. Tamil Nadu took a significant welfare step by mandating SC/ST spending in proportion to their population share.

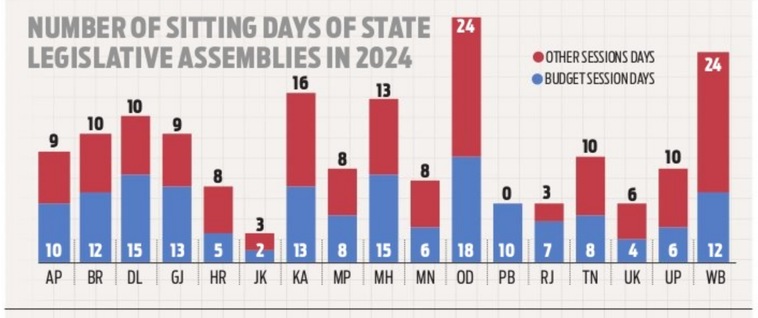
Following a Supreme Court ruling in July 2024 that allowed states to levy taxes on mineral rights, many states quickly moved to enact laws to that effect, signalling a new fiscal trend in resource governance.

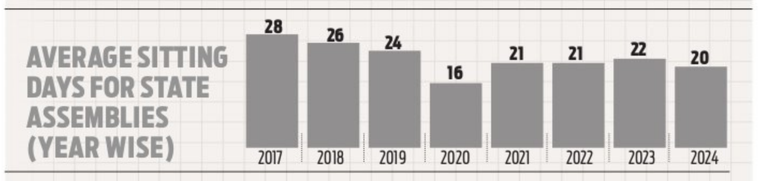
In other areas, Gujarat passed a law banning black magic, while Assam outlawed traditional healing practices involving magical claims for disease treatment. Maharashtra amended its law to increase the penalty for cutting down trees without official permission, reinforcing environmental regulation.

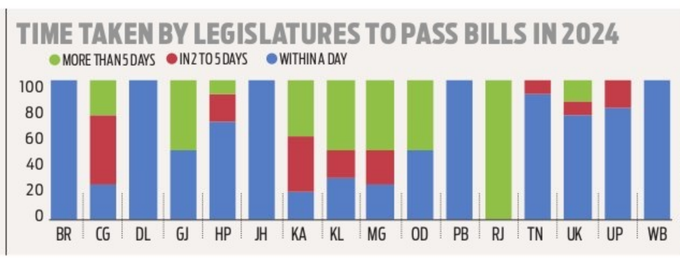
On the agriculture front, Chhattisgarh, Karnataka, Punjab, and Tamil Nadu amended their Agricultural Produce Marketing Committee (APMC) laws, aiming to improve regulation of agri-trade and market access for farmers.

In response to health and public order concerns, Haryana, Karnataka, and Telangana banned hookah bars and the serving of hookahs in restaurants or bars, following similar steps taken by other states in recent years.









'Op Sindoor' reflects PM's firm political will against terror, says Shah

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

INAUGURATING a new Multi-Agency Centre (MAC) at the North Block on Friday, Union Home Minister Amit Shah said 'Operation Sindoor' is a testament to India's strong political will, accurate intelligence of our agencies and the impeccable combat capability of the three Armed Forces.

"Operation Sindoor is a unique symbol of Prime Minister Modi's resolute political will, precise intelligence of our agencies and the unmatched strike capability of our three Armed Forces," Shah said at North Block.

The MAC, under the Intelligence Bureau, was established in the aftermath of the 26/11 Mumbai terror attacks with an aim to share timely inputs among various stakeholders involved in law enforcement.

"The new MAC will synergise the efforts of the agencies and provide a seamless and integrated platform to deal with the complex and interconnected challenges of national security," Shah said, adding, the new network will strengthen the country's efforts in dealing with serious threats like "terrorism, extremism, organised crimes and cyber attacks".

Speaking about the recent large-scale anti-Maoist operations conducted by the Central Armed Police Forces (CAPFs) in Karregattalu Hills at the Chhattisgarh-Telangana border, the Union Home Minister said the crackdown demonstrated the excellent coordination between the security forces.

He asserted that a similar coordinated strike was also observed during 'Operation Sindoor', which showcases the true capabilities of Indian intelligence agencies and the Armed Forces.

Additionally, congratulating the Indo-Tibetan Border Police (ITBP) for successfully scaling Mt Makalu (8,485 m), the world's fifth highest peak, on April 19, Amit Shah in a post on X said, "Braving extreme weather conditions, the ITBP personnel unfurled the Tiranga at the peak of the mountain and carried out a cleanliness drive inspired by the Swacch Bharat Abhiyan and removed 150 kg garbage."

Govt may not call spl session of Parliament

'Discussion on military strikes to be taken up during Monsoon session'

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

FOLLOWING a week of deliberations, the Centre has reportedly decided not to convene a special session of Parliament, despite demands from the Opposition, for a discussion on the Pahalgam terror attack and the subsequent Operation Sindoor.

Sources within the BJP indicated that internal discussions within the government concluded that a special session is not as essential as the Opposition portrayed.

"The government shared all necessary details on the Pahalgam attack at the all-party meet. Information of the Operation Sindoor was continuously shared through proper channels. So calling for a special session of Parliament does not seem logical. You might have heard a statement of senior NCP leader Sharad Pawar who said the discussion on such sensitive issues in Parliament does not sound well," a senior BJP leader said.

"Maximum time will be allocated for discussion on Operation Sindoor during the upcoming Monsoon session, likely to commence mid-June or in July first week," the leader added.

A BJP source criticised the Congress for insisting on a special Parliament session on Operation Sindoor and the Pahalgam attack, especially with the Monsoon session approaching. The Congress was vocal for a special parliamentary session despite expressing its support for the government's anti-terror measures.

Meanwhile, the Narendra Modi government is reported to have scheduled a meeting of NDA chief ministers on May 25-26 in Delhi to discuss recent anti-terror operations, including Operation Sindoor, along with developmental issues.

Sources said PM Modi is expected to chair the NDA chief ministers' meeting.

The Congress on Friday said that while, the government has initiated a move to dispatch multi-party delegations abroad over the terror threat from Pakistan, the Prime Minister is reportedly meeting only NDA chief ministers to derive "political mileage" from the military strikes.

"The PM has called for a meeting of only NDA chief ministers on May 25 to take political mileage from Operation Sindoor. But he now wants MPs from all parties to go abroad as a delegation for explaining India's stance on terrorism from Pakistan," Congress secretary in charge of communications Jairam Ramesh wrote on X.

Mehta named lead prosecutor in NIA's Rana case

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Union Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA) has appointed Solicitor General Tushar Mehta, Additional Solicitor General SV Raju, Senior Advocate Dayan Krishnan and Advocate Narender Mann as lead prosecutors in the National Investigation Agency (NIA) case against Tahawwur Rana, officials said on Friday.

According to officials, the MHA in notification said, "In exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (1) of Section 15 of the National Investigation Agency Act, 2008 (34 of 2008), read with sub-section (8) of Section 18 of the Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023, the Central Government hereby appoints a team of Special Public Prosecutors, led by Tushar Mehta, Solicitor General of India, alongside SV Raju, Additional Solicitor General, Senior Advocate Dayan Krishnan and Advocate Narender Mann."

It further said, "This team will oversee the trial and all related proceedings concerning the NIA case before the Special Courts in Delhi, the High Court of Delhi and the Supreme Court of India."

In the notification the MHA went on to add that the appointed law officers' tenure "will extend for three years from the publication date of this notification or until the completion of the trial, whichever occurs first", under the conditions outlined in the Department of Legal Affairs' notification.

On May 9 Tahawwur Rana, a key conspirator in the 26/11 Mumbai terror attacks, was presented before the Patiala House Court from NIA remand, a day earlier than the scheduled date due to security concerns and the special Court has ordered his judicial custody until June 6, 2025.

Rana was extradited from the United States earlier this month in connection with his alleged role in the deadly 26/11 Mumbai terror attacks in 2008.

Hypertension leads to premature mortality from heart attacks, strokes

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

HYPERTENSION, which continues to be a major public health concern, is a silent killer that affects over 294 million people across South-East Asia, the WHO said on Friday.

Modifiable behavioural risk factors such as tobacco and alcohol use, high salt intake, physical inactivity, unhealthy diets, and mental stress continue to drive its prevalence, said the World Health Organisation (WHO) to mark the World Hypertension Day, observed annually on May 17.

"Hypertension remains a leading contributor to premature mortality from heart attacks and strokes in our region. Worryingly, the unmet need – defined as the gap between those with high blood pressure and those adequately diagnosed, treated, and controlled – remains as high as 88%," said Saima Wazed, Regional Director for WHO South-East Asia (WHO-SEARO region).

"This indicates that nine out of every 10 people with hypertension are not receiving optimal care," she added.

"With strong political will, community engagement, and innovative approaches, we can reduce the burden of hypertension and move closer to achieving our global goal of reducing premature mortality from non-communicable diseases by one-third by 2030."

India has set a target of a 25% relative reduction in the prevalence of hypertension (raised blood pressure) by 2025.

To achieve this, the government launched the Indian Hypertension Control Initiative in November 2017 to fast-track access to treatment for over 220 million people in India who have hypertension.

Uncontrolled blood pressure is one of the main risk factors for cardiovascular diseases such as heart attacks and stroke and is responsible for one-third of total deaths in India.

"Strengthen collaboration between health programmes – including maternal and child health, mental health, and infectious disease services – to build a seamless continuum for hypertension and related illnesses," Wazed said.

Post-Celebi, no hiccups in baggage handling

S LALITHA @ New Delhi

DESPITE the sudden termination of the contract with Turkish-based ground handling firm, Celebi Airport Services Pvt Ltd, and urgent measures adopted on Thursday night, ground handling operations at the nine airports and the airlines it served remained smooth, said multiple sources across the country.

The retention of the employees and the distribution of the workload among other ground handling agencies have facilitated the smooth transition.

Nearly 7,800 employees of Celebi annually handled 5,40,000 tonnes of cargo for 54,000 flights at Delhi, Mumbai, Bengaluru, Hyderabad, Cochin, Chennai, Goa, Ahmedabad and Kannur.

The civil aviation ministry and airports have gone all out to ensure that passengers were not inconvenienced in any manner due to the sudden decision.

A top official at Delhi's Indira Gandhi International Airport told this newspaper, "We entrusted the responsibility to both AISATS (Tata owned Air India SATS Airport Services Pvt Ltd) and the Bird Group. Celebi's staff has migrated to the new groups. We have not had any confusion at all."

A source at Indigo, India's biggest airline, said, "Our ground handling operations across flights and airports were handled by our own subsidiary, Agile Airport Services. So, we were not impacted in any manner." A Spicejet spokesperson said there was no major issue reported at any of the airports for its flights.

An official at Chennai airport said, "There was limited usage of Celebi here as only Scoot, Spicejet, Cathay Pacific, British Airways, Royal Brunei Airlines and US-Bangla airlines availed the services of the Turkish firm. They flew only few flights and have moved to other ground handlers."

The spokesperson of Bangalore International Airport Limited, which operates Kempegowda International Airport said, "All operations are fine here." A source at Hyderabad airport too reported no glitches. Aviation Minister Ram Mohan Naidu released a statement after the termination of the contract on Thursday night stating that he was personally monitoring the situation at all the airports. He assured the Ministry was going all out to ensure smooth operations.

In an official statement in the aftermath of the termination, Celebi Aviation India said it is a professionally governed, globally operated aviation services company which has operated in India for 15 years. "Today, it is majority-owned (65%) by international institutional investors from across Canada, the US, the UK, Singapore, the United Arab Emirates, and Western Europe." Actera Partners II L P, a Jersey-registered fund, holds 50% ownership in Çelebi Havacılık Holding.The remaining 15% is held by Alpha Airport Services BV, a Dutch-registered entity.

Meanwhile, Celebi India has reportedly moved a plea in Delhi High Court stating that it operates as an Indian entity, employing over 3,000 Indians, with management also led by Indian citizens, underscoring the substantial local workforce and leadership impacted by the Centre's decision.

Turkish firm moves court against India's decision

A day after the Centre revoked its security clearance citing national security concerns, aviation services firm Celebi is reported to have approached the Delhi High Court challenging the decision. Celebi Airport Services India reportedly filed a petition in the Delhi High Court contesting the Centre's decision, arguing that the cited security concerns lacked sufficient explanation, according to a Reuters report. This development was independently verified by this newspaper.

AKHILESH YADAV AND HIS ALLY CONG YET TO MAKE A STATEMENT TO CLEAR THE AIR

Slugfest over SP MP's remarks on Wing Commander

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

AFTER a row over MP minister Vijay Shah's remark on Col Sofyia Qureshi, Samajwadi Party national general secretary Ramgopal Yadav's statement on Wing Commander Vyomika Singh triggered a slugfest among political parties.

Ram Gopal said in Moradabad on Thursday that BJP supporters had targeted Colonel Qureshi because of her Muslim identity. Had they known Vyomika Singh was from the Jatav community, they would have targeted her too. Thinking her to be a Rajput, they spared her, the SP MP said. Wing Commander Vyomika gained attention while conducting media briefings along with foreign secretary Vikram Misri during Operation Sindoor.

Ram Gopal drew an outrage from the BJP leaders who said the uniform should not be seen through "casteist lenses". "Every soldier of Indian Army performs national duty instead of representing any caste or religion. Relegating a valiant daughter of India to a caste by the national general secretary of SP is not only a display of his party's narrow-minded thinking but also a grave insult to the valour of the Army and the dignity of the country," CM Yogi Adityanath said on X.

The BJP mistook Wing Commander Singh for Rajput, didn't know Air Marshal Bharti's caste

Ramgopal Yadav, MP

UP deputy CM Keshav Maurya said, "Looking at the caste and religion in the Army is a reflection a low mentality. PM Narendra Modi as also laid stress on women empowerment in Armed Forces. Everyone should trust him."

With SP chief Akhilesh Yadav and his ally Congress observing a guarded silence, Ayodhya MP Awadhesh Prasad took a different line by disagreeing with Ram Gopal's remark. He said, "Caste has no place in the Army and politics should stay out of it. Such thinking must be rejected." Meanwhile, Ram Gopal came out with a clarification over his remarks but stopped short of offering an apology. He said the CM reacted without checking his full statement.

AFTER ROW OVER 'BOWING TO FEET' REMARK, DEVDA SAYS MISQUOTED

MP deputy CM in middle of storm over jibe at Army

ANURAAG SINGH @ Bhopal

DAYS after Madhya Pradesh tribal affairs minister Vijay Shah's remark on Colonel Sofia Qureshi triggered a controversy, state's deputy CM Jagdish Devda stirred up a row with his alleged comment on the armed forces. Opposition Congress accused Devda of insulting the valour of the forces. The Congress alleged that Devda has said, "The country's army and soldiers bow in the feet of Prime Minister Narendra Modi."

The Congress and chairperson of party's digital and social media platform Supriya Shrinate shared a 0.45-minute video, part of the 1.24-minute viral video Devda, on their 'X' accounts on Friday. "When the whole country is bowing in front of the army, BJP leaders are expressing their low thinking about the brave army. BJP and Jagdish Devda should apologise for it, and he should be removed from the cabinet," Shrinate said, referring to Devda's speech while inaugurating the training program of civil defence volunteers in Jabalpur.

Devda has hit out at the Congress and sections of the media for presenting his speech in a distorted way. "What I said was that the people of the country bow down at the feet of India's armed forces for the way the Operation Sindoor was carried out and the manner in which those behind the Pahalgam terror attack were punished," the Deputy CM told reporters. "Strict action needs to be taken against all those who have distorted my statement," said Devda, also MP's finance minister.

Strict action must be taken against those who distorted my statement. I'll file a plaint.

Jagdish Devda, MP Dy CM

Devda said, "Entire country was fuming over the dastardly terror attack on tourists in Pahalgam. The nation was unanimous on avenging the attack. We would like to thank PM Modi. Entire country bows down at the feet of the armed forces and soldiers for the reply given by them."

CARPET EXPORT BODY MEETS CENTRE OVER MILITARY SUPPORT TO PAKISTAN

CEPC demands reciprocal tariffs on Turkey carpets

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

IN the wake of Turkey's open support to Pakistan during Operation Sindoor, the Carpet Export Promotion Council (CEPC) has urged the Union government to impose reciprocal tariffs on machine-made carpets imported from there to ensure fair protection to Indian carpets in the domestic market.

The CEPC also raised the issue of tariffs imposed by the Trump administration on Indian handmade carpets, weakening their global competitiveness. According to CEPC director Sanjay Kumar Gupta, a delegation of the council, led by chairman Kuldeep R Wattal, met minister of state for commerce Jitin Prasada, in the presence of Bhadohi MP Vinod Bind in New Delhi on Wednesday, to put forward the demands including imposing reciprocal tariffs on import of Turkey's machine-made carpets.

He said the delegation also pointed out that by imposing reciprocal tariffs on machine-made carpets imported from Turkey, Indian carpets would get fair protection in the domestic market.

The basic customs duty on machine-made carpets and other textile floor coverings from Turkey imported by India is 20%, he said, adding that Turkey, however, imposed a 46% duty on import of Indian carpets.

The delegation pointed out that reciprocal tariffs on carpets from Turkey would protect Indian carpets in the domestic market.

Sanjay Kumar Gupta, CEPC

Seeking immediate attention of the Indian authorities towards bilateral carpet trade with Turkey in view of the fast-dropping figures of carpet export to the country, the CEPC also wanted immediate intervention on the issue of tariffs imposed by Trump administration on Indian handmade carpets.

The delegation which met the minister included Ashfaque Ahmad Ansari, Umesh Shukla, Sattar Ansari, Aseem Ansari (Bobby), Sadiq Ansari and Shahid Ansari.

Guv cancels Rajasthan visit amid tensions

The intensifying hostilities between India and Pakistan last week prompted Punjab Governor and Chandigarh Administrator Gulab Chand Kataria to change his travel plans and get into immediate action. According to sources privy to the development, Kataria contacted the Deputy Commissioners and Senior Superintendent of Police of border districts to assess the ongoing situation. Following this, the Governor convened an all-party meeting and organised a 'sarva dharma' gathering at the Raj Bhawan on Saturday. Leaders from various political parties, including Punjab Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann, were present.

Leaders seek special package for Punjab

In view of the challenging situation at Punjab border due to operations and counter-operations between India and Pakistan, leaders of all political parties have come together to demand a special package for the state. CM Bhagwant Mann stressed that the state is always the first to bear the brunt during wars and escalations. State Congress leader and LoP Partap Singh Bajwa also pressed for a package for the development of the six border districts. He urged the introduction of a robust economic stimulus package to foster long-term stability and growth in the areas. BJP state president Sunil Jakhar echoed the same during an all-party meeting.

Locals gather around drone wreckage

After being neutralised by India's air defence system, remnants and debris from drones and a suspected missile were scattered across several villages in Amritsar, Gurdaspur, Tarn Taran, Jalandhar, Hoshiarpur, Bathinda, and Ferozepur. This drew large crowds of people who were eager to see the debris. Social media flooded with videos of locals taking photos and making reels with the remnants, pointing out various parts. Many people discussed what to do with the debris, touching it out of curiosity. Some even attempted to take pieces home or considered selling them to scrap dealers. In response, CM Bhagwant Mann urged the public to stay away from debris.

3 die cleaning sewage tank in Gujarat factory

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

THREE workers died after they inhaled a toxic gas while cleaning a septic tank at a factory in Gujarat's Ahmedabad on Friday, police said.

The incident occurred when one of them slipped into the tank. As his two coworkers rushed in to rescue him, they also inhaled the noxious gas. All three were pulled out and rushed to LG Hospital, but doctors declared them dead on arrival. Their bodies have been sent for post-mortem, and a first information report will be registered against the contractor and unit owner for causing death by negligence, as the victims were not provided any safety equipment.

"Our probe revealed that one worker fell unconscious after he entered the tank, and the others followed to see what had happened to him. The trio was rushed to a hospital, where doctors declared them dead," Assistant Commissioner of Police Y A Gohil said.

He said they died of asphyxiation as soon as they entered the tank. The official said the unit had remained shut for some time, and the owner wanted to restart the facility.

'Selfish purposes': HC says polygamy being widely misused in Islam

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Lucknow

THOUGH it was permitted in Islam to go for more than one marriage under certain circumstances and with certain conditions, this permission was being 'widely misused' by even going against the mandate of Muslim law, the Allahabad High Court observed.

The bench, comprising Justice Arun Kumar Singh Deshwal, said polygamy had been permitted, conditionally, by the Holy Quran in early Islamic times for rehabilitation of widows and orphans after heavy wartime casualties but now the said provision was being misused for 'selfish purposes'.

The observation came from the bench while hearing a petition by Furqan and two others challenging chargesheet as well as summon order by a Moradabad court under Sections 376, 495, 120-B, 504 and 506 of IPC.

An FIR was lodged by the opposite party no. 2 (wife) alleging Furqan married her without disclosing to her that he was already married and that he raped her during the marriage. His counsel argued that no offence under Section 494 IPC would be made out against him as, under Muslim Law and the Shariat Act, 1937, a Muslim man was permitted to marry up to four times.

The court held that there was no law which declared second marriage under Muslim law void, therefore, it would not be punishable u/s 494 IPC. On whether a second marriage contracted by a Muslim could be declared void, court opined it would be void if declared Batil (void) by Shariat.

Thus, issuing notice to the opposite party, the court in its order, dated May 8, stayed any coercive action against the applicant and ordered to list the matter in the week commencing May 26.

Khurshid comes to PC defence amid row over INDIA future

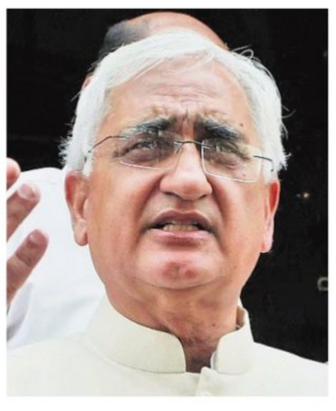
PREETHA NAIR & RAMASHANKAR @ New Delhi/Patna

AFTER Congress leader P Chidambaram's comments on "the bleak future of Opposition INDIA bloc" sparked a political row on Friday, senior party leader Salman Khurshid said that the former Union Minister's remarks shouldn't be taken out of context and one has to look at his basic approach and sentiment.

Chidambaram made the remarks during the launch of "Contesting democratic deficit: An inside story of the 2024 elections," by Congress leader Salman Khurshid and Mritunjay Singh Yadav. Speaking to this paper, Khurshid said that Chidambaram is a valuable colleague and a deep thinking person. "So I don't think that we should take something out of context about what he has said and look at his basic approach and sentiment. I think that's important," he said.

On the future of the INDIA bloc, he said that parties have to work carefully and slowly build upon it.

"We have the experience of the past few months. Now what we need to do is to use that experience to build upon the future. But an alliance is not easy. It takes a lot of effort, and we all need to put in that effort and be willing to make the sacrifices that are necessary," he said.



Take Khurshid's words as advice for Oppn: Anwar

In Bihar, Congress MP Tariq Anwar too asserted that the veteran leader's statement on the "staying power of the INDIA bloc and about BJP's formidable machinery" should not be taken as his criticism, but as his advice to the opposition alliance for self-introspection.

In his book, Khurshid also writes that the alliance partners must find ways to work together even in the state elections.

Meanwhile, in Bihar, Congress MP Tariq Anwar too asserted that the veteran leader's statement on the "staying power of the INDIA bloc and about BJP's formidable machinery" should not be taken as his criticism, but as his advice to the opposition alliance for self-introspection.

Anwar said that he had full faith in the grand alliance, a part of INDIA bloc, adding that that the opposition alliance was fully united, active and also with the people.

Decks cleared for relocation of seven villages in submerged area of J'khand

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

THE decks have been cleared for the relocation of seven villages lying in the submergence area of Mandal dam in Palamu Tiger Reserve (PTR) as the Jharkhand government has agreed to provide one acre land besides compensation of ₹15 lakh to each household.

Despite getting the forest and wildlife clearance in 2018, Mandal dam awaits relocation of 7 villages. Spread over Garhwa, Latehar and Palamu districts, the dam is yet to become functional due to lack of consensus between the government and the villagers living in its submergence area. A total of 780 households residing in Kutku, Bhajna, Khura, Khaira, Saneya, Chemo and Meral villages are to be relocated.

PTR deputy director Prajesh Kant Jena said that it's a win-win situation for the government, tiger reserve and villagers. "When the villages get relocated, the vacated land will create a huge water body which will reduce the problem of human-animal conflict in Garhwa, Latehar and Palamu districts. While the rest of area will create a huge patch of grassland for tigers and elephants," Jena said. The government, according to the Deputy Director, has taken a humane approach while deciding the rehabilitation package. "The relocated place will be developed into a model development cluster so that the rehabilitated people could be duly taken care of," the deputy director said. Mandal dam in PTR has been lying defunct since the 1990s when work on the project was stopped after local protests. In 2015, the then minister for environment, forest and climate change, Prakash Jawdekar, announced the creation of a task force to expedite the forest, environment and wildlife clearances for the project.

Later, on January 5, 2019, PM Narendra Modi laid foundation stone for the project.

When the villages get relocated, the vacated land will create a huge water body which will reduce the problem of human-animal conflict in Garhwa, Latehar and Palamu districts.

B-town celebs in the dock again in blackbuck case

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

THE Rajasthan government has challenged the acquittal of Bollywood actors Saif Ali Khan, Tabu, Neelam, and Sonali Bendre in the 1998 blackbuck poaching case in which superstar Salman Khan was convicted in 2018.

The matter was heard on Friday in the Rajasthan High Court where a plea for leave to appeal was taken up. Justice Manoj Kumar Garg directed that the case be listed along with other related matters. According to Advocate Mahipal Vishnoi, the incident occurred on October 1, 1998, during the shooting of the film Hum Saath-Saath Hain in Kankani village near Jodhpur.

It was alleged that the actors, led by Bollywood superstar Salman Khan,had hunted blackbucks, a protected species under the Wildlife Protection Act.

On April 5, 2018, the trial court convicted actor Salman Khan and sentenced him to five years in prison. However, co-accused Saif Ali Khan, Tabu, Neelam, Sonali Bendre, and a local man Dushyant Singh were acquitted due to lack of evidence and by giving them the benefit of the doubt.

1998 blackbuck poaching case

The incident occurred on October 1, 1998, during the shooting of the film 'Hum Saath Saath Hain' in Kankani village near Jodhpur. It was alleged that the actors, led by Bollywood superstar Salman Khan, had hunted blackbucks, a protected species under Wildlife Protection Act.

The state government has sought permission to transfer related matters and include Salman Khan's conviction as part of the broader appeal over seven years after the verdict was delivered in a Jodhpur court. The High Court has scheduled the next hearing for July 28, when all related cases will be heard together.

Following his conviction in April 2018, Salman Khan was sent to Jodhpur Central Jail. However, on April 7, 2018, the District and Sessions Court granted him conditional bail on a surety of ₹50,000, and he was released the same day. He remains out on bail, while the case continues to be pending before the High Court. In 1998, a total of five cases were registered against actor Salman Khan and his co-stars like Sonali Bendre, Tabu, Saif Ali Khan, Satish Shah and some locals of Jodhpur for allegedly hunting two blackbucks and one chinkara during the shooting of the film. In the Kankani Village poaching case, on April 5, 2018, Salman Khan was convicted and sentenced to five years in prison. He was sent to Jodhpur Central Jail.

However, on April 7, 2018, the District and Sessions Court granted him conditional bail.

Knife attack: Salman Rushdie assailant gets 25 years in prison

MAYVILLE

An American-Lebanese man was sentenced to 25 years in prison on Friday for trying to kill novelist Salman Rushdie in a 2022 knife attack at a New York cultural center.

Hadi Matar, 27, was convicted in February of attempted murder and assault for the stabbing, which left Rushdie blind in one eye. Matar received the maximum sentence of 25 years for the attack on Rushdie and seven years for assault on another attendee at the speaking event. The sentences are to run concurrently.

Rushdie, a British-American, told jurors during the trial about Matar "stabbing and slashing" him at the upscale cultural center. "It was a stab wound in my eye, intensely painful, after that I was screaming because of the pain," Rushdie said, adding that he was left in a "lake of blood."

Salman Rushdie

Matar -- who shouted pro-Palestinian slogans on several occasions during the trial -- stabbed Rushdie about 10 times with a six-inch blade.

He previously told media he had only read two pages of Rushdie's "The Satanic Verses," but believed the author had "attacked Islam."

Matar's lawyers had sought to prevent witnesses from characterizing Rushdie as a victim of persecution following Iran's 1989 fatwa calling for his murder over supposed blasphemy in the novel. Iran has denied any link to the attacker and said only Rushdie was to blame for the incident.

The optical nerve of Rushdie's right eye was severed in the attack. His Adam's apple was lacerated, his liver and small bowel penetrated, and he became paralyzed in one hand after suffering severe nerve damage to his arm. AFP

Russia, Ukraine agree on prisoner swap but no truce

First direct talks in three years touched upon ceasefire, possible Zelenskyy-Putin meeting

ISTANBUL

Russia and Ukraine agreed a large-scale prisoner exchange, said they would trade ideas on a possible ceasefire and discussed a potential meeting between Volodymyr Zelenskyy and Vladimir Putin in their first direct talks in over three years on Friday.

But coming out of the highly anticipated talks in Istanbul, which lasted just over 90 minutes, there were few signs of more significant progress toward ending the three-year war. Kyiv was seeking an "unconditional ceasefire" to pause a conflict that has destroyed large swathes of Ukraine and displaced millions of people.

Moscow has consistently rebuffed those calls, and the only concrete agreement appeared to be a deal to exchange 1,000 prisoners each.

The two sides also said they would "present their vision of a possible future ceasefire", said Russia's top negotiator, Vladimir Medinsky.

Russia also took note of Ukraine's request for a meeting of Presidents Putin and Zelenskyy, he said. "Overall, we are satisfied with the results and ready to continue contacts," Medinsky added.

Ukraine's top negotiator, Defence Minister Rustem Umerov, confirmed the prisoner swap in a separate statement and also said a ceasefire and a possible presidential meeting had been discussed.

Turkish Foreign Minister Hakan Fidan, who presided over the talks, said the sides had "agreed in principle to meet again" and would present ceasefire ideas "in writing".

Fidan sat at the head of a table in front of Turkish, Russian and Ukrainian flags at Istanbul's Dolmabahce Palace for the talks — with Russian and Ukrainian delegations facing each other, footage from the room showed.

But progress on more fundamental issues appeared minimal.

During the talks, a Ukrainian source told AFP that Russia was making "unacceptable" territorial demands in a bid to derail negotiations.

Nevertheless, the fact the meeting took place at all was a sign of movement, with both sides having come under steady pressure from Washington to open talks. AFP

Trump says Iran has proposal from US on nuke programme

ABU DHABI

US President Donald Trump said Friday that Iran has an American proposal over its rapidly advancing nuclear programme as negotiations between the two countries go on.

Trump's remarks represent the first time he's acknowledged an American proposal is with Tehran after multiple rounds of negotiations between US Mideast envoy Steve Witkoff and Iranian Foreign Minister Abbas Araghchi.

Negotiations have gotten into the 'expert' level ' meaning the two sides are trying to see if they can reach any agreement on the details of any possible deal. But one major sticking point remains Iran's enrichment of uranium, which Tehran insists it must be allowed to do and the Trump administration increasingly insists the Islamic Republic must give up.

Trump discusses proposal on Air Force One Trump made the comment aboard Air Force One as he ended his trip to the United Arab Emirates, the last stop on his three-nation tour of the Middle East that also included Saudi Arabia and Qatar. At nearly every event he attended in the region, he insisted that Iran could not be allowed to obtain a nuclear bomb ' something American intelligence agencies assess Tehran is not actively pursuing though its programme is on the cusp of being able to weaponise.

A reporter asked Trump: 'On Iran, has the US given them a formal proposal? Has Steve Witkoff handed that over?'

'They have a proposal,' Trump responded. 'But most importantly, they know they have to move quickly, or something bad is going to happen.' Trump did not elaborate on the substance of the proposal and Iran did not immediately acknowledge having it.

On Thursday, Araghchi spoke to journalists at the Tehran International Book Fair and said that Iran did not have any proposal from the Americans yet.

Araghchi also criticised what he called conflicting and inconsistent statements from the Trump administration, describing them as either a sign of disarray in Washington or a calculated negotiation strategy.

Witkoff at one point suggested that Iran could enrich uranium at 3.67%, then later began saying that all Iranian enrichment must stop. AP

Immigrants in limbo as Trump halts asylum

WASHINGTON

THEY arrive at the US border from around the world: Eritrea, Guatemala, Pakistan, Afghanistan, Ghana, Uzbekistan and so many other countries.

They come for asylum, insisting they face persecution for their religion, or sexuality or for supporting the wrong politicians. For generations, they had been given the chance to make their case to US authorities. 'They didn't give us an ICE officer to talk to. They didn't give us an interview...,' said a Russian election worker who sought asylum in the US after he said he was caught with video recordings he made of vote rigging. On January 20, just after being sworn in for a second term, President Donald Trump suspended the asylum system as part of his wide-ranging crackdown on illegal immigration, issuing a series of executive orders designed to stop what he called the 'invasion' of the United States.

What asylum-seekers now find, according to lawyers, activists and immigrants, is a murky, ever-changing situation with few obvious rules, where people can be deported to countries they know nothing about after fleeting conversations with immigration officials while others languish in Immigration and Customs Enforcement custody.

Attorneys who work frequently with asylum-seekers at the border say their phones have gone quiet since Trump took office. A thicket of lawsuits, appeals and countersuits have filled the courts as the Trump administration faces off against activists. AP

$600M OIL AND GAS PROJECTS LAUNCHED

Indonesian President Prabowo Subianto inaugurated two $600-million offshore oil and gas projects in the South Natuna Sea, aiming to produce 20,000 barrels per day. The move marks a significant step toward national energy self-sufficiency and enhanced energy security. Prabowo also pledged to phase out coal power and achieve net-zero emissions by 2050. Indonesia plans to build over 75 gigawatts of renewable energy by 2040, requiring an estimated $27 billion to close coal plants and transition to cleaner energy sources nationwide.

Israel escalates Gaza attacks, strikes Yemen ports as Trump wraps up trip

ISRAEL launched dozens of airstrikes across northern and southern Gaza on Friday, killing more than 93 people and wounding hundreds — attacks that Israeli officials described as a prelude to a larger military campaign in the territory aimed at pressuring Hamas to release hostages.

Also on Friday, Israel struck two ports in Yemen that it said were used by the Houthi militant group to transfer weapons. The strikes in Gaza followed days of similar attacks that killed more than 130 people, according to Gaza's Health Ministry, and came as U.S. President Donald Trump wrapped up a visit to Gulf states — but not Israel. There had been widespread hopes that his trip to the region could increase the chances of a ceasefire deal, or the resumption of humanitarian aid to Gaza, which Israel has prevented for more than two months.

Speaking to reporters in Abu Dhabi on the final day of his trip, Trump said he was looking to resolve a range of global crises, including Gaza. "We're looking at Gaza," he said. "And we've got to get that taken care of. A lot of people are starving. A lot of people are — there's a lot of bad things going on."

In southern Gaza, Israel struck the outskirts of Deir al-Balah and the city of Khan Younis. It said it hit anti-tank missile posts and military structures. In northern Gaza, the attacks sent people fleeing from the Jabaliya refugee camp and the town of Beit Lahiya. Israel said it eliminated several militants who were operating in an observation compound.

Dark smoke was seen rising over Jabaliya as people grabbed what they could of their belongings and fled on donkey carts, by car and foot.

"We got out of the house with difficulty, killing and death, we did not take anything," said Feisal Al-Attar, who was displaced from Beit Lahiya. There were no immediate reports of casualties after the strikes on Yemen. The Houthis' satellite channel Al-Masirah acknowledged the attacks, but provided no other details. AFP

Momentum builds as push to ban LGBTQ+ 'conversion' practices across EU gains steam

BRUSSELS

A petition calling on the EU to ban "conversion"' practices targeting LGBTQ people was close to reaching its minimum threshold of one million signatures on Friday.

As of 2.00 pm (1200 GMT) Friday, more than 950,000 people from across the 27-nation bloc had backed the initiative, including singer Pierre de Maere and former French prime minister Gabriel Attal.

"Conversion therapy must be banned throughout Europe," said Belgian singer Angele, another famous supporter.

So-called conversion practices imply methods aimed at changing the sexual orientation or gender identity or expression of gay, lesbians, queer and trans people.

The United Nations has called for a global ban, describing such practices — based on the erroneous belief that homosexuality is a disorder — as discriminatory, humiliating and a violation of bodily integrity. Yet, in the European Union, only eight out of 27 nations — France, Belgium, Cyprus, Germany, Malta, Portugal, Spain, and Greece — have enacted a full ban, according to the LGBTQ rights group ILGA. This petition has the potential to "shake things up", Matteo Garguilo, a 21-year-old student who initiated the campaign, told AFP. "It gets people talking". If the petition reaches its threshold before a Saturday deadline, the European Commission will have to provide a detailed answer on what it intends to do on the matter.

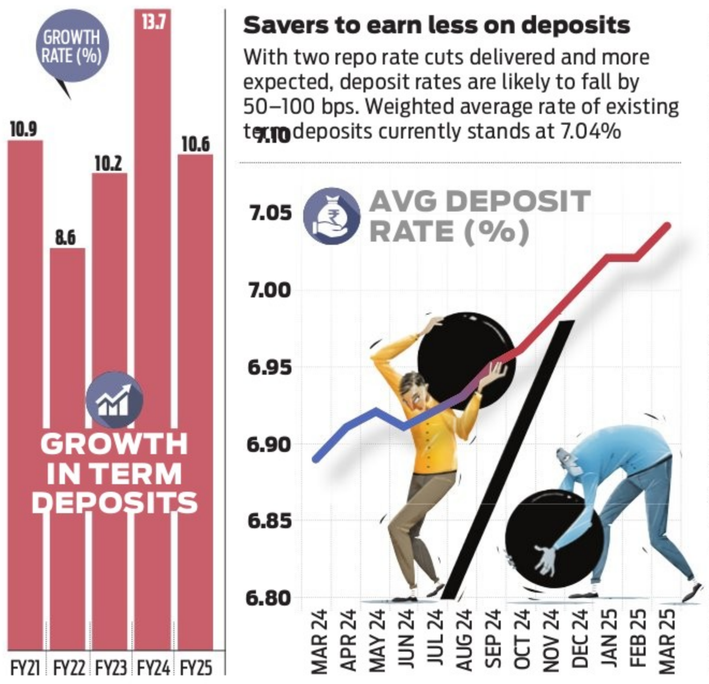
Banks stare at fall in deposit growth in FY26

With inflation staying below 4% since Feb, most analysts anticipate two more rate cuts in the current calendar year



Savers to earn less on deposits

With two repo rate cuts delivered and more expected, deposit rates are likely to fall by 50–100 bps. Weighted average rate of existing term deposits currently stands at 7.04%

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

AFTER posting double-digit growth in FY25, banks are bracing for a slowdown in term deposit growth in the current financial year, as they begin reducing deposit rates. Lower rates make mobilising deposits difficult for banks.

The Reserve Bank (RBI) has cut the repo rate by 50 basis points — 25 bps each in the February and April monetary policy reviews — but these cuts have not been fully passed on to depositors. With monthly inflation staying below 4% for three consecutive months since February, most analysts anticipate two more repo rate cuts in the current calendar year.

Canara Bank MD and CEO K Satyanarayana Raju told TNIE that while the bank had to pass on the benefits of policy rate cuts quickly to nearly 44% of its loan book, it faces a lag in reducing interest rates on existing term deposits due to contractual obligations. Although banks have started lowering rates on new deposits, existing ones will continue to earn interest at older, higher rates until renewal.

With two repo rate cuts already delivered and more expected, deposit rates are likely to fall by 50–100 basis points. The weighted average rate of existing term deposits currently stands at 7.04%, which is 15 bps higher than a year ago. According to bankers, retail deposit rates are expected to begin softening from the second quarter of FY26.

"The softening of deposit rates, particularly in the bulk segment, is already visible, and a similar trend in retail deposits is expected from August onwards," said Raju.

Deposit growth has remained in healthy double digits for the past three financial years, but that seems unlikely this year. Anticipating a slowdown, some banks have launched special deposit schemes to attract funds at prevailing rates.

Punjab National Bank (PNB), after discontinuing its 400-day, 7.25% scheme in April, introduced a 390-day scheme at 7.10%, under which it mobilised ₹8,000 crore in May. "Despite the lower rates, customers prefer parking funds in banks amid market and geopolitical volatility," PNB MD and CEO Ashok Chandra told TNIE. Union Bank of India also recently rolled out an innovative term deposit scheme offering 6.75% interest, along with facilities for premature closure and loans against the deposit.

IT cos see rise in attrition rate; GCCs now attractive choice for professionals

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

ATTRITION rate in IT services firms is slowly inching up as many IT companies saw increased rate in the March quarter as against previous quarters. HR experts say this is owing to various factors including single-digit salary hikes in comparison to double-digit offers from other firms and better opportunities across global capability centres (GCCs), start-ups and product companies.

Infosys' voluntary attrition in Q4FY25 was at 14.1% as against 12.6% in the year-ago period. TCS' attrition rate stood at 13.3% in IT services in the March quarter, 13% in Q3 and 12.3% in Q2. FY25, the slow recovery year, from a talent action point, remained largely in line with the low and slow recovery curve pattern that began in the second half of FY2024. FY25 saw large players slowly hiring to regain capacity they lost in the previous fiscal, said Kamal Karanth, co-founder, Xpheno, a specialist staffing firm.

"While the IT services talent action picked up on relative terms, GCCs kept their hiring engines on through the year. With this dual effect from IT services and GCCs, mobility of talent increased and moved the average up by 1% point to nearly 14%," he said. Sunil Nehra, CEO – IT Staffing, FirstMeridian Business Services said GCCs are offering better career opportunities. "The power of AI, ML and cloud computing has gained immense recognition in India and talent who have specialised in these new age skills are enjoying better career growth trajectories. As nearly 1.5 lakh jobs are expected to be created by 2026 across the GCC sector in India, there is also a shift in the way that talent is being engaged," he said.

HR experts also pointed out that the rapid adoption of AI and machine learning is reshaping business models and there is demand for specialised skills.

AI reshaping biz models

HR experts also pointed out that the rapid adoption of AI and machine learning is reshaping business models and there is demand for specialised skills. According to him, there is a possibility, by the end of 2026, the attrition rate in the Indian IT sector will normalise.

Hyundai plans to launch 26 new models

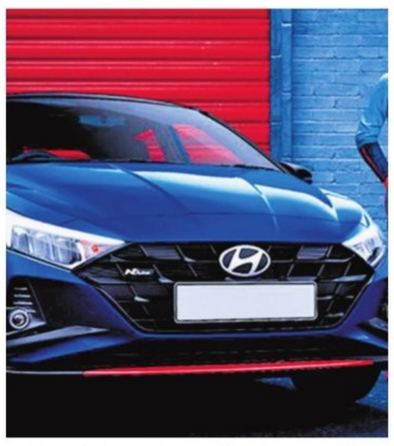
ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

HYUNDAI Motor India (HMIL) plans to launch 26 new models in the Indian passenger vehicle (PV) market by the end of FY2030 as it looks to boost sales amid stiff competition from domestic rivals - Mahindra & Mahindra and Tata Motors.

The lineup will include 20 internal combustion engine (ICE) vehicles and six electric vehicles (EVs), featuring a mix of all-new models, full-generation upgrades, and enhanced versions of existing cars. Additionally, HMIL will introduce strong hybrid vehicles in India, with further details to be revealed at its Investor Day in September 2025.

"We remain steadfast in expanding a well-balanced portfolio across ICE and eco-friendly technologies, to cater to diverse customer needs across segments," said Unsoo Kim, Managing Director at HMIL.

Kim added, "In addition to ongoing product interventions and updates, we are excited to announce that we will be launching 26 products. This will include a mix of new models, full model changes & product enhancements, by the end of financial year 2030. This will comprise 20 from ICE and 6 from EV segment. Additionally, we shall be introducing new ecofriendly powertrains like Hybrids."



We remain steadfast in expanding a well-balanced portfolio across ICE and eco-friendly technologies, to cater to diverse customer needs across segment — Unsoo Kim, Managing Director at HMIL

Tarun Garg, chief operating officer (COO) of HMIL informed that they will be rolling out eight new models over the next couple of years. He said that the prime focus for them will remain on sports utility vehicles (SUVs) where they continue to see a strong customer preference. The Korean brand's aggressive product push comes after rival carmakers M&M and Tata Motors dethroned the automaker from its long-held position as India's second-largest carmaker. In April 2025, M&M solidified its No. 2 spot in the Indian PV market with 52,330 domestic sales, surpassing Hyundai's 44,374 units.

On its outlook for FY26, Hyundai said demand sentiment continues to be weak in the domestic market and the company would focus on exports growth to offset domestic market challenges. HMIL is targeting to achieve 7-8% growth in exports in FY26.

Hyundai has planned capital expenditure of Rs 7,000 crore during FY26. 40% of this capex would go towards the expansion of manufacturing facility in Pune and 25% of it will be allocated to enhancing the product portfolio.

HMIL on Friday reported a 4% dip in its consolidated Profit After Tax (PAT) to Rs 1,614 crore for the fourth quarter ended on March 31, 2025, on account of lower sales in the domestic market.

Forex reserves jump $4.5 bln to $690.61 bn

NEW DELHI: India's forex reserves jumped by $4.553 billion to $690.617 billion for the week ended May 9 on the back of a steep increase in gold assets, the RBI said on Friday. In the previous reporting week, the overall reserves had dropped by $2.065 billion to $686.064 billion. The forex reserves had touched an all-time high of $704.885 billion in end-September 2024. ENS

GOLD FALLS 10% FROM ALL-TIME HIGH AS DEMAND GOES DOWN

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

GOLD prices have corrected about 10% in recent weeks from an all-time high of $3500 in the international markets and ₹100,000/10 gms on the MCX. The current market price of gold in the international markets fell below $3200/ounce while on the MCX gold price hovered below Rs 93,000/10 grams.

Prathamesh Mallya, DVP- research, non-agri commodities and currencies, Angel One said ease in geo-political tensions between India-Pakistan, Russia-Ukraine, and ease of tariff situation between US-China, shifting inflation expectations in the US, along with are all combination of factors driving gold prices correction in the recent weeks.

"The recent correction in gold prices have given investors an avenue to buy at lower levels, hence, our advise to investors is to accumulate on dips at around 90,000/10gm mark. The upside potential for gold prices can be around ₹97000/10 gms mark from a fortnight perspective," added Mallya.

Prathamesh Mallya, Angel One

In the international market, spot gold prices fell further as the Friday session progressed, taking the total decline to more than 4% during the week. This is the biggest weekly fall for the yellow metal in six months.

Jateen Trivedi, VP Research Analyst - Commodity and Currency, LKP Securities, said that gold prices remained volatile, hovering near $3,200 on Comex and ₹92,700 on the MCX, as markets reacted to potential trade agreements between the U.S. and key partners like the UK and China.

He added that the absence of a dovish signal from the U.S. Federal Reserve, with no immediate interest rate cut, further limited buying momentum in bullion.

"Technical indicators suggest continued weakness as long as prices remain below Rs 94,000 on MCX and $3,240 on Comex. The easing of global risk concerns and a firm dollar may continue to pressure gold in the short term," said Trivedi.

JAPAN

Q1 GDP SHRINKS AMID WEAK SPENDING

The economy of Japan shrank 0.7% in the January-March period, the first contraction in a year, government data showed on Friday. It underscored that domestic demand was sluggish even before higher US tariffs took full effect. In the first quarter of 2025, real gross domestic product, adjusted for inflation, fell 0.2% from the October-December period, as weak consumer spending amid inflation and increased import costs weighed on growth, the Cabinet Office said. US President Donald Trump began imposing heavy tariffs on Japanese products in April, raising concerns that the export-driven economy could suffer a sharp downturn, potentially weighing on household and corporate sentiment.

MALAYSIA

GDP EXPANDS 4.4% IN Q1

The Malaysian economy grew 4.4% in the first quarter of 2025, according to a Bank Negara Malaysia statement released on Friday. This growth, slightly lower than the 4.9% recorded in the fourth quarter of 2024, was primarily fuelled by sustained domestic demand. The central bank stated that household spending remained strong, supported by positive labour market conditions and income-related policy measures such as the upward revision of the minimum wage and civil servant salaries. Investment activities also contributed to the expansion, driven by the implementation of new and ongoing projects. In the external sector, export growth experienced a slowdown, largely attributed to reduced mining exports.

HONG KONG

ECONOMY EXPANDS 3.1% IN FIRST QUARTER

Hong Kong's economy grew 3.1% in the first quarter year on year, the government said on Friday. This growth was supported by a rise in exports of goods and services, and a resumption of growth in investment expenditure. The figure was in line with the official advance estimates released earlier this month. Sustained global trade flows, coupled with inbound tourism, are expected to benefit exports of services, the government said. On a seasonally adjusted quarterly basis, the economy grew 1.9% in the three months to March 31. The government maintained its real GDP growth forecast for 2025 at 2-3%. It kept the forecast for the underlying and headline consumer price inflation rates at 1.5% and 1.8% respectively.

US' 5% tax on remittances expected to shave off $1.7 bn inflow into India

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

US President Donald Trump's proposed 5% tax on remittances will have a significant effect on India as the country is one of the biggest beneficiaries of remittances from the US. Rough estimates suggest the 5% tax would deprive the country of $1.6-1.7 billion in foreign exchange every year.

The proposed bill -- The One Big Beautiful Bill -- includes a 5% tax on international money transfers made by non-citizens and this means, non-immigrant visa holders (like H-1B visas) who send money to India will have to pay a remittance tax of 5%. According to the Reserve Bank of India (RBI), with 28% of total inward remittances coming from the US, the North American country is the biggest contributor of money sent by NRIs to India.

According to the RBI data, India's remittances have more than doubled from $55.6 billion in 2010-11 to $119 billion in 2023-24, which means about $33 billion were from the US. If the bill is enacted, then India might need to forego $1.65 billion in remittances.

It said that in the US labour force, the percentage rise in the foreign-born workers stood at 6.3% in 2022 from 0.7% in the pre-pandemic year of 2019; however, in the case of native-born workers the share largely remained unchanged at 1%.

Nearly 78% Indian migrants in the United States are employed in high earning sectors such as management, business, science, and arts occupations.

High earning sectors

Nearly 78% Indian migrants in the US are employed in high earning sectors such as management, business, science, and arts occupations. Over 54 lakh Indians are living in the US and out of this, more than 33 lakh belonged to Persons of Indian origin (PIO) category, according to Statista.

Over 54 lakh Indians are living in the US and out of this, more than 33 lakh belonged to Persons of Indian origin (PIO) category, according to Statista.

Saurrav Sood, Practice Leader, International Tax & Transfer Pricing at SW India, said those NRIs which are non-citizens in the US, will have to pay 5% remittance tax when they are remitting payments to their home country.

He, however, said that there is no clarity whether this remittance tax will be available as a credit to the person doing remittance.

If one is a US citizen or national and pays the tax, then the person can claim a full refund as a refundable income tax credit, if the person has a valid Social Security Number on tax return and provides proof of tax paid. Sandeep Jhunjhunwala, M&A Tax Partner at Nangia Andersen LLP, said, "A new remittance tax proposal by the House Republicans could significantly impact NRIs and other foreign nationals living in the US." As per a RBI, India's remittance receipts have generally remained higher than India's gross inward FDI flows, establishing their importance as a stable source of external financing.

'Apple's iPhone assembly exit may trigger deeper mfg push'

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

IF Apple moves its iPhone assembly operations out of India, the country may be compelled to shift focus from basic assembly lines to deeper manufacturing such as chips, displays, batteries, and other high-value components, as per the Global Trade Research Initiative (GTRI).

The think tank noted that the relocation of iPhone assembly would not only affect India's electronics manufacturing ecosystem but could also help reduce the US' trade deficit with India. GTRI said though iPhones are sold in the US for about $1,000, India's contribution to each device is less than $30. Yet, in trade statistics, the full export value –nearly $7 billion – is recorded as originating from India, inflating the US trade deficit with the country. "It will also cut the US trade deficit with India, which has been a major concern for former President Donald Trump. For every iPhone sold at around $1,000 in the US, India's share is less than $30. Yet, in trade data, the full $7 billion export value adds to the US trade deficit," said Ajay Srivastava, founder GTRI.

On Thursday, Trump said he had asked Apple Inc. CEO Tim Cook to stop producing iPhones in India. Speaking during a visit to Qatar, Trump also described India as one of the highest-tariff nations in the world, saying it is "very hard to sell" products there. His remarks came shortly after Cook announced on May 2 that the majority of iPhones to be sold in the United States during the April–June 2025 quarter would be manufactured in India. Currently, China dominates global smartphone production, accounting for 76.6% of the total supply. Vietnam contributes 9.9%, India 8.4%, and South Korea 1.2%.

Starc, Ferreira skip IPL; MI's Jacks returns

Delhi Capitals' Mitchell Starc and Donovan Ferreira have opted not to return for the remainder of the IPL, while England all-rounder Will Jacks will rejoin Mumbai Indians for their final two league fixtures. Starc has been a pivotal figure in DC's campaign, emerging as their leading wicket-taker with 14 scalps in 11 matches at an average of 26.14.

KOHLI BACK WHERE HE BELONGS

The former captain gears up to play his first competitive game since announcing his retirement from Test cricket

GOMESH S @Bengaluru

IT was about 1.30pm on a humid Friday afternoon in Bengaluru. Unlike the previous evening, the M Chinnaswamy Stadium entrance was a lot less crowded when the Royal Challengers Bengaluru team bus entered the venue on the eve of the clash against Kolkata Knight Riders — the one that heralds the resumption of 2025 Indian Premier League.

Maybe the fans who wanted to get a glimpse of their cricketing hero Virat Kohli brought traffic to a standstill on Cubbon Road late on Thursday evening, did not know that RCB were training in the afternoon. For a while, it did seem like they would not miss their idol as it turned out to be an optional training session on Friday. Not everyone took the team bus including the recently-retired former India Test captain Kohli.

Throughout this week, right from the time Kohli shared his Test retirement on Instagram, he has been the biggest talking point. As soon as it was announced that the IPL will resume with a RCB versus KKR game at the here, social media was flooded with posts of fans egging on each other to turn up for the venue in whites, donning Kohli's No 18 on the back as a tribute to the most successful Test captain India has ever had. The superstar who has carved the identity for the franchise is after all the only player to represent the same team in all 18 seasons of the IPL.

Team	M	W	Pts	NRR
GT	11	8	16	0.793
RCB	11	8	16	0.482
PBKS	11	7	15	0.376
MI	12	7	14	1.156
DC	11	6	13	0.362
KKR	12	5	11	0.193
LSG	11	5	10	-0.469
SRH	11	3	7	-1.192
RR	12	3	6	-0.718
CSK	12	3	6	-0.992

till the league was suspended

Kohli, in many ways, has been the singular identity for the team for more than 12 years now. It did not matter who the captain was — Faf du Plessis in the past to Rajat Patidar in this season — Kohli is at the front and centre when it comes to RCB.

It did feel a little bit different as the RCB batters finished their stints one after another on Friday. A little over an hour into the training session, when it seemed like the majority of the practice was over, Kohli walked into the arena. Donning his sunglasses, with a red kit bag over his shoulder, he came in, did a bit of warm-ups before getting padded up and waited for his turn. Around 3.40pm, having paired up with Jitesh Sharma, he hit the nets with Jitesh Sharma.

> The first thing to say is Virat is business as usual, as he always is. There's enough of the public & the nation's attention on him, & he doesn't want any more of that.
> Mo Bobat, RCB team director

Virat Kohli walks on to the field for a practice session on Friday | VINOD KUMART

Kohli's first hit looked a lot like a warm-up session. A bunch of on-the-up drives and flicks with a bat that did not have a sponsor sticker. Just as he got going, the DJ, almost as if they sensed the presence of the superstar in the middle, blasted the speakers with the RCB team song. Perhaps, they were just doing the routine rehearsal checks, but Kohli was not impressed. He was out in the middle to concentrate and get ready for what will be his first game after announcing the Test retirement. It will be the first game since the IPL was suspended for one week last Friday.

Kohli wanted to be in his zone as RCB, currently second on the table with 16 points from 11 games, would be looking to finish in the top two.

Kohli pulled out and waited as everyone on the field were signalling around the ground to stop the music. As the sound stopped, Kohli got back in the middle. He went on to have a hit for another half hour or so before walking off the field.

While Indian cricket and its fans are running high on emotions over the last week, with Rohit Sharma and Kohli retiring from the longest format, the former India captain has kept his business as usual. RCB Director of Cricket Mo Bobat gave a peek into how Kohli has been since getting back into the dressing room after the retirement decision. "There's enough of the public and the nation's attention on him, he doesn't want any more of that. He just wants to get on with his business," Bo Babat. "He is usually ambitious about what we can achieve this year with RCB and that's what he does. I would like to say though that he should be incredibly proud of what he's done as a test player for India. RCB as a franchise, we are all incredibly proud of what every one of our players does in India this year, but in particular him. I'm sure the fans will show him lots of love this week when they see him again."

"Just to go back to where I started, he's business as usual, we all are. He's spoken to a few of us about things in the last few weeks, but you know what he's like, he's pretty clear on what he wants to do," he added.

It remains to be seen whether the fans would turn up in whites on Saturday. As for the man himself, much like he has done throughout his career, Kohli would be walking out with one purpose — do everything he can to win the match for Royal Challengers Bengaluru.

Despite breaching 90m mark, Neeraj Chopra finished second behind Julian Weber of Germany, who threw 91.06m in the final attempt on Friday | AFP

90.23m: Neeraj's new landmark

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Chennai

ONE of the longest running sagas in elite Indian sport is finally over. As India went to sleep on Friday night, Neeraj Chopra, the country's poster boy in athletics, hurled the spear past the 90m mark — 90.23 to be exact — for the first time ever at the Doha Diamond League on Friday. This also shows that he is completely free of injury. After years of coming close and failing, the double Olympic medallist proved to himself that he had it in his locker, javelin's absolute gold standard. In the process, he became only the 25th man in history to cross the distance.

It's perhaps no coincidence that Chopra — who has sat through many a press conferences where 90m has dominated the discourse — nailed the mark under the guidance of Jan Zelezny, the Czech great who sailed past the 90m territory more than 50 times in his career. This is also the best start Chopra would have asked for under the new coach after parting ways with German biomechanics expert, Klaus Barthonietz, after last year's Olympics.

Even in a loaded field comprising the likes of Jakub Vadlejch, Julian Weber, Anderson Peters and Arshad Nadeem, all of them are contenders at the World Championships later this year, this throw will give him the necessary confidence that he's on the right track ahead of that event in Tokyo in September.

One can even make the case for saying the 27-year-old fancied this night to create history. Just after releasing the spear in his first attempt — "these are good conditions," was how the commentators summed it — his usual fun body language was missing. The Indian multiple Olympic gold-medallist usually turns around and raises both his arms skywards after a good throw, especially if it's at the start of the competition.

This — a 'world-leading' 88.44m — was good. But Chopra kind of turned around with a tinge of disappointment.

There was no sense of disappointment after his third attempt when he hurled the weapon of his choice across the floodlit night sky before its pointy end landed just past 90m. Even before it hit the sweet spot, the Indian had his arms pointing skywards. Seemingly free of injury, that now customary Chopra body language was back after a season of pain.

Focus on B'luru: IPL set for second innings

GOMESH S @Bengaluru

ROYAL Challengers Bengaluru Director of Cricket, Mo Bobat, was at the press conference hall of the M Chinnaswamy Stadium on Friday evening. He was taking questions from the media and in the process, explained how the week-long suspension of the Indian Premier League gave some of the players in their team a much-needed break before getting back on the field.

There was an air of calmness in the room as he was handing clarifications in regards to the availability of players on the eve of the game against KKR — which will kick-start the remaining leg of the IPL. About a week ago, the mood within the camp was not the same. RCB were training in Lucknow last Thursday, getting ready to face Lucknow Super Giants the day after. That is when they saw what was happening in Dharamsala, with the floodlights switched off and crowd being evacuated from the venue in the middle of the Punjab Kings vs Delhi Capitals game.

As the match was called off midway due to the cross border tension between India and Pakistan, panic and chaos had ensued. Not just for RCB but almost every team in the IPL, especially PBKS and DC, who had to take a special train from Jalandhar to New Delhi the next day. It was an unprecedented situation, in particular for Indian cricket, where the game had to be called off midway because of border tension less than 100kms away from the venue. As PBKS and DC were heading to the capital city, the BCCI decided to suspend the IPL for a week to see if the situation de-escalates. From the moment the announcement was made, players dispersed, many took the first flight out, to their respective states and countries.

"We were quite keen to send the players home because actually (it was) a good chance for them to have a break. For the Indian players, that's relatively straightforward. With the overseas players, myself and (head coach) Andy (Flower) sat them down and spoke to them all and said, 'Look, what is your preference?' and a lot of them said, 'look we'd like to go home because it's a period of uncertainty but we're very committed, and if we need to come back, we'll come back'," revealed Bobat in a video shared by RCB.

Even though the situation improved and the IPL was set to resume in a week, things had changed overnight and the cross border tension then had left a lasting mark on several players. For some, it turned out to be a much-needed break from the chaos or time to heal from injuries. However, some had gone through a mental anguish that they chose not to return, especially with little time to process. With RCB and KKR soon to be in action, one hopes that normalcy will be restored.

RCB-KKR to kickstart IPL, again

Visitors Kolkata Knight Riders are in a must-win situation, while the Royal Challengers Bengaluru look to seal the play-off spot, as the IPL resumes on Saturday. A look..

Will Rajat take part?

The RCB skipper, who is recovering from a finger injury has had a good nets session both on Thursday and Friday. RCB Director of Cricket Mo Bobat was unsure of his availability, adding that they are still monitoring his condition.

KKR in do-or-die situation

They are one of the few teams who have most of their players available. And they will need to bring their A game as a unit, for another loss here would confirm their exit from the season. The defending champions will want to put on a show.

WEATHER WATCH

As it has been the case in the past, this time of the year brings some showers to Bengaluru. Thursday night saw some rain that affected the training and there is some forecast for rain on Saturday as well. Both teams will be wary of it and the fact that the venue has one of the best drainage system in the country, it would take a lot of rain for the game to be called off.

'Thinking' Krunal proves his value

CHANDRA PRABHU @Chennai

PRIOR to the start of IPL this year, bowling all-rounder Krunal Pandya's acquisition by the Royal Challengers Bengaluru (RCB) raised doubts. His credentials as the lead spinner for the franchise were questioned despite the think-tank assembling a balanced squad, addressing key concerns. Pandya had responded to those doubts by racking up his best numbers in his IPL career. With 14 wickets so far, he has also been one of the economical bowlers (8.57), with Josh Hazlewood marginally better (8.44).

What is key in his performances so far, is his game consciousness, according to JioHotstar expert for IPL and former India great Sunil Gavaskar. "Krunal has got this ability to think on his feet. Obviously, situations are fluid in cricket and particularly in T20 cricket, the game can change around in an over," he stated in an Star Sports Press Room on the eve of Saturday's IPL fixture, which resumes after a week. "He tries to outthink the batter. He's not a big turner of the ball. He'll vary his line and length, he'll bowl the short ball, he'll bowl the bouncer. So he keeps making the batter think, because this game is so much of premeditated shot making by the batters. And more often than not, he manages to outthink them," the former India captain added.

Krunal Pandya

That observation of Gavaskar can be testified with the left-arm spinner's execution. At the first game of the season at Eden Gardens against KKR, Krunal was given the ball. KKR were at 107/1 after 10 overs. In two overs, he sent back skipper Ajinkya Rahane and Venkatesh Iyer. He had explained about the 'change of pace' in an interview post match. "Right now their skillset of the batters these days, with the ability to hit sixes and make good shots consistently, so you have to also make sure to up your game," he explained.

With the bat, Krunal got his IPL highest score of 73 runs, in little time he was given.

"When it comes to batting as well, the way he bats is, he knows exactly what the situation is, and that is the reason why I call him a thinking cricketer. Because somebody who thinks on his feet is invaluable for his team," Gavaskar said. Only time will tell whether that can help RCB win an IPL title.

NEW DELHI: A first information report (FIR) has been filed in conection with the accident that involved India's top Indian cyclist Esow Alban when he was training on Noida Expressway two days back, the national federation said. Esow escaped with "minor" injuries after he was hit from behind by two bikers on Wednesday.

India A squad throws more surprises

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@Chennai

AS expected, some of India's regular Test players like Yashasvi Jaiswal, have been included in the A squad for the two four-day games against England Lions. Jaiswal, expected to open with KL Rahul in the first Test, is joined by his Rajasthan Royals teammate, Dhruv Jurel. Other Indian Premier League regulars like Ishan Kishan, seemingly back in the scheme of things in red-ball cricket, and Karun Nair are also in the contingent. One of Nair to Jurel are, at least at this point in time, likely to figure in the first Test from June 20.

Curiously, Nair, Shardul Thakur, Mukesh Kumar, Akash Deep and Harshit Rana have been included in the first four-day game, scheduled to begin on May 30. However, all of their IPL teams still have a chance of making the playoffs. Will they be asked to miss the playoffs if their sides do get that far?

SQUAD

A Easwaran (C), Y Jaiswal, K Nair, D Jurel (VC) (WK), NK Reddy, S Thakur, I Kishan (WK), M Suthar, T Kotian, Mukesh K, A Deep, H Rana, A Kamboj, K Ahmed, R Gaikwad, Sarfaraz K, T Deshpande, H Dubey.

Note: S Gill & S Sudharsan will join the squad ahead of the second match.

Or will they be asked to stay back and join the team ahead of the second four-day game from June 6? The Indian Cricket Board's (BCCI) release says both Shubman Gill and Sai Sudharsan, whose Gujarat Titans side have a strong chance of advancing to the playoffs, will join the squad ahead of the second India A game. Staying on the topic, they have avoided picking players from Punjab Kings, Royal Challengers Bengaluru, Mumbai Indians and Gujarat Titans — the top four teams in the table — for the first India A game.

One name that has grabbed eyeballs is the presence of Ruturaj Gaikwad, the CSK batter who was ruled out of the IPL after a fractured elbow he sustained on March 30.

Yamal scores stunner as Barcelona seal Liga title

AGENCIES
@Cornella De Llobregat (Spain)

A STUNNING Lamine Yamal strike helped crown Barcelona La Liga champions with a 2-0 win at local rivals Espanyol on Thursday, with victory ensuring Real Madrid cannot catch them at the top of the table.

Yamal's effort and Fermin Lopez's goal took Hansi Flick's side seven points clear of Los Blancos with two matches remaining, to clinch Barcelona's 28th title and complete a superb domestic treble. Only the Champions League escaped an exciting young Barca side this season, as they won the league for the second time in six years, at Espanyol's ground again just as in 2023.

Back then, celebrating Barca players were chased from the field by angry home supporters but this time Espanyol turned on the sprinklers to soak the jubilant visitors, who headed down the tunnel quickly.

Yamal opened the scoring after 53 minutes of a tense derby clash with a brilliant curling effort, before Lopez added another in the 95th minute to secure victory. "It's time to celebrate," said Barca coach Flick, who said he would demand even more from his team next season. "It's in our DNA (to want to learn), it's normal, and this is what I want from the players, that they always try to get better and they have this hunger, it's crucial."

Outside the stadium before the match several Espanyol fans were hit by a car which drove into a big crowd, although none were seriously injured and police said it appeared to be an accident.

Though total cyclonic systems in the Arabian Sea did not show any significant long-term trend from 1960 to 2022, they showed an upward trend on a decadal time scale and a significant upward trend in the occurrence of category 2 and above after 1995

RISING TEMPERATURES PUT BANANAS UNDER HIGH RISK

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

INDIA'S banana production faces increasing risks due to rising temperatures and the resurgence of climate-related pests, which could significantly affect a large number of people who rely on them for nutrition.

A study by a UK-based organisation, Christian Aid, found that India, the world's largest producer of bananas, may experience a decline in production by 2050 due to temperature increases caused by climate change. Bananas thrive in temperatures ranging from 15 to 35 degrees Celsius and require ample water to grow effectively.

Bananas are the fourth most important food crop globally, following wheat, rice and maize. In India, bananas occupy approximately 20% of the total cropped area, with Tamil Nadu leading in acreage while Maharashtra tops the production and export lists. India's contribution to global banana exports is comparatively less. It stood at 12th position, showing that production is meant for domestic consumption, which complements nutritional intake.

The study, "Going Bananas: How Climate Change Threatens the World's Favourite Fruit," warns that 60% of the best banana-growing areas are at risk from rising temperatures driven by climate change. It assesses climate change's near-term and long-term impacts.

The study underlines that climate impacts on bananas will be felt in the near term through extreme weather events such as erratic conditions like stormy rain, extreme floods, and drought conditions, while steadily increasing temperatures and alterations to the monsoon season will affect production in the long term.

Impact on India

The report indicates that India is expected to see declining banana yields due to climate change by 2050. Ever-increasing temperatures due to human activities have been leading to more pest attacks and wider infestation and distribution, potentially impacting production as well as nutrition. In India, changing climate has been exacerbating fungal diseases, such as Panama disease, and pests like banana weevils threatening production. Indian farmers mostly grow the Cavendish banana variety. However, it is highly susceptible to Panama TR4 disease, a fungal disease also known as Fusarium wilt. The disease leads to the plant's wilting, yellowing, and eventual death.

Further, banana weevils or banana root borers are causing various issues like stunted growth, plant snapping, reduced yield, and premature fruit ripening, consequently impacting farmers' income.

Meanwhile, the lack of diversity in banana varieties, as Indian farmers mostly grow the Cavendish variety, which is commercially more viable, increases the possibility of susceptibility to indirect climate impacts, including diseases. Lack of genetic diversity poses a threat of emerging diseases, as natural selection cannot act to allow the survival and spread of resistant genomes.

The analysis also examined rainfall patterns in the banana-producing regions. It found that in India's central belt, including the banana-exporting state of Maharashtra, extreme rainfall events have increased threefold since 1950, despite an overall decline in annual rainfall.

Unlike other fruits, bananas are available year-round, are affordable and nutritious. Moreover, many households' livelihoods depend on the fibre of bananas, which is used to make bags, rope and paper. A decline in banana production will impact the income of 43% of India's working population, who depend on agriculture.

ARABIAN SEA TO WITNESS MORE CYCLONES, DECLINE IN FISH PRODUCTION

The Arabian Sea will witness more number of cyclones with high intensity while there will be a decline in the number of cyclones in the Bay of Bengal because of a sea warming skew

MANOJ VISWANATHAN @ Kochi

WHILE global warming is triggering climate change and changing wind patterns, there is more disturbing news for India. The rapid increase in sea surface temperature (SST) and the associated five-fold increase in Tropical Cyclone Heat Potential (TCHP) will trigger an increase in occurrence of higher categories and higher number of cyclones in the Arabian Sea, says a study titled "Is a warming Northern Indian Ocean Generating more tropical cyclones", by R S Abhinav, Jayu, Narvekar, S Prasannakumar and Evelin Francis, published by the Journal of Operational Oceanography on May 8.

Explaining the findings, National Institute of Oceanography former director S Prasannakumar told TNIE that the fish productivity of Arabian Sea will be affected.

"There has been a decline in the rate of warming of the Bay of Bengal after 1995. An analysis of 60-month data of the Sea Surface Temperature of both the Arabian Sea and Bay of Bengal showed an approximate decadal cycle. Though the overall rate of warming in both the Arabian Sea (0.0118°C per year and the Bay of Bengal (0.0117°C per year was almost the same, the post-1995 slopes were quite different. In the Arabian Sea the rate of warming during post-1995 (0.014°C per year) was higher than that of pre-1995 (0.008°C per year). In contrast, the Bay of Bengal's post-1995 rate of warming (0.009°C per year) was lower than that of the pre-1995 period (0.013°C per year)," he said.

According to Prasannakumar, the Arabian Sea will witness more number of cyclones with high intensity while there will be a decline in the number of cyclones in the Bay of Bengal. "The Arabian Sea is warming faster than the Bay of Bengal. There will be a biological implication which can affect fishermen. The productivity of the Arabian Sea is linked to upwelling and winter convection. The warming of the Arabian Sea will trigger stratification and the area of upwelling will decrease. Upwelling is the process which brings up cold, nutrient-rich waters to the surface, which encourage seaweed growth and support blooms of phytoplankton. This supports fish productivity. As the sea gets warmer, it will impact the wind shear and the winter convection will decrease," he explained.

Though the North Indian Ocean contributes to only 6% of the world's tropical cyclones, its impact in terms of loss of life and property is large as one-third of the global population lives in the countries that adjoin the rim of the ocean.

A study on the temporal distribution of the total number of cyclonic systems and different categories of tropical cyclones in the Arabian Sea and the Bay of Bengal raises two pertinent questions. One, why is there a difference in the long-term trend of total number of cyclonic systems and the occurrence of different categories of tropical cyclones between the Arabian Sea and the Bay of Bengal, and two, why higher category cyclones are occurring more frequently after the mid-nineties, especially in the Arabian Sea? An analysis of the Sea Surface Temperature data from 1960 to 2011 showed that the Arabian Sea was experiencing an accelerated rate of warming after the mid-nineties. In contrast, the post-1995 rate of warming in the Bay of Bengal showed a reduction in warming.

The Arabian Sea is warming faster than the Bay of Bengal. There will be a biological implication which can affect fishermen

S Prasannakumar, former director, National Institute of Oceanography

The correlation of carbon dioxide with sea surface temperature showed an increase in the Arabian Sea in the post-1995 period, while in the Bay of Bengal, the correlations showed a marginal decline post-1995. A higher correlation of sea surface temperature with carbon dioxide during the study period implied a dominant role of carbon dioxide in the warming of the sea in both basins. Thus, the overall warming in the North Indian Ocean could be linked to the global effect of anthropogenic greenhouse gas emissions.

In the Bay of Bengal, though the overall warming rates during the study period were similar to that of the Arabian Sea, the trend and variability of the ocean-atmospheric parameters were more complex and often opposing one another. The decreasing trend of the rate of warming of SST in the Bay of Bengal post-1995 could be explained in the context of the cooling of the eastern Indian Ocean by the increased occurrence of positive Indian Ocean Dipole (IOD). The IOD is an irregular oscillation of sea surface temperatures in which the western Indian Ocean becomes alternately warmer (positive phase) and then colder (negative phase) than the eastern part of the ocean.

This led to the overall reduction in the total number of cyclonic systems in the Bay of Bengal. The occurrence of higher category cyclones after 1975 and the appearance of Category 5 cyclones after 1987 must be linked to the availability of higher magnitudes of heat storage in the upper ocean along with higher quantity of moisture availability in the atmosphere in comparison to the Arabian Sea. Hence, whenever the ocean-atmospheric dynamics and thermodynamics were congenial the Bay of Bengal could generate higher category cyclones.

The lack of trend in the total number of cyclonic systems on a decadal time scale in the Bay of Bengal is in part due to the lack of a supportive trend in the relative vorticity and vertical wind shear. These findings will have important implications for the coastal population living in the north Indian Ocean rim countries as it would affect their life and livelihood, the study said.

DAY'S DIARY

New law signed

President Clinton on this day in 1996 signed Megan's Law, a bill for authorities to notify communities when convicted sex offenders move into a place

AGAINST OFFENDERS

The law was built on provisions contained in the 1994 Crime Bill, the Jacob Wetterling Crimes Against Children and Sexually Violent Offender Registration Act

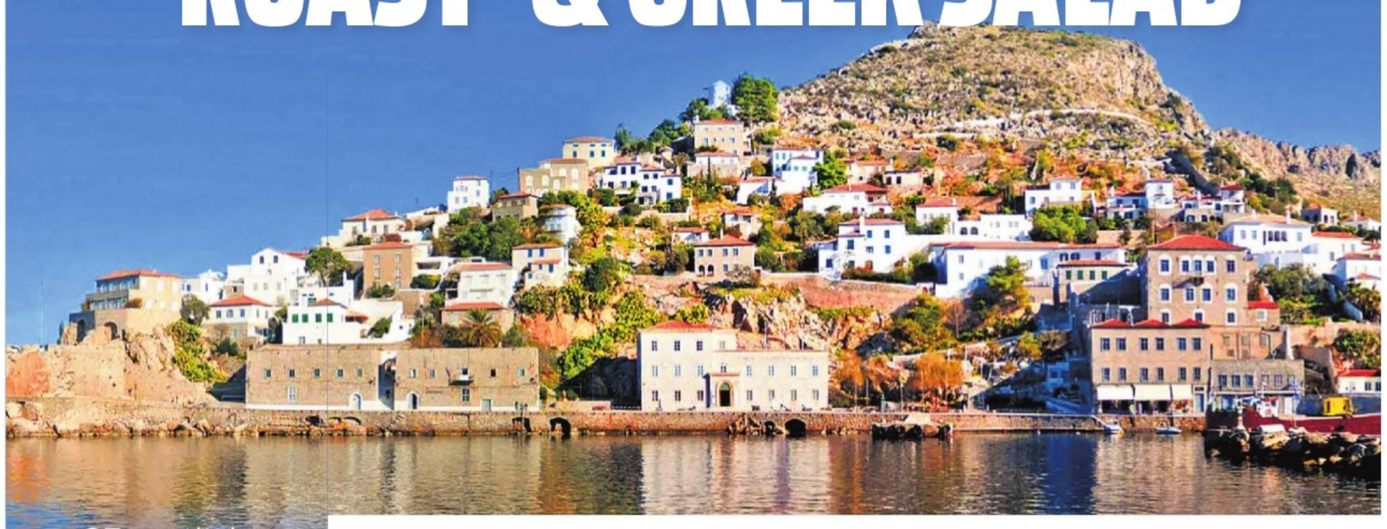
THE REASON

After the murder and sexual assault of seven-year-old Megan Kanka, her parents pushed for the law. Her killer had been living next door to the family

ADVANCEMENTS

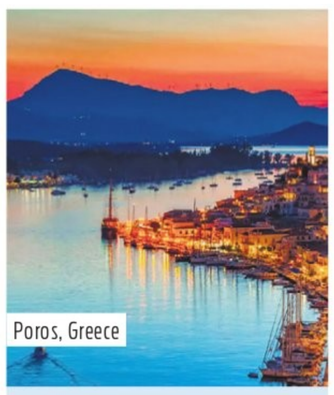
In 2016, the International Megan's Law, which requires notification of travelling sex offenders, was signed into law by then-President Obama

TALKING OF TURKEY 'ROAST' & GREEK SALAD



CE spotlights the sudden buzz over Greece and Armenia as travel destinations following the widespread call for boycott of Turkey and Azerbaijan across India

Geghard Monastery, Armenia



Poros, Greece

Visa & budget?

- For Greece, a Schengen Visa is required. ₹1.5 to ₹2.2 lakh per person for a week-long stay (covers visa, flights, stay, and food)
- Indian passport holders can stay up to 180 days in Armenia with an e-Visa. ₹90,000 to ₹1.3 lakh per person for a week-long stay (covers visa, flights, stay, and food)

Republic Square, Armenia

Laos has hot-air balloons like Cappadocia; Philippines has beautiful beaches just like Antalya; and the snow-capped mountains in Kazakhstan are similar to Azerbaijan

RONNIE KURIAKOSE

IN THE weeks following the Pahalgam terror attack that claimed 26 civilian lives, India's retaliation has had not just military and diplomatic ramifications, but also an unexpected consequence in the travel industry.

Angered by the backing that Turkey and Azerbaijan issued for Pakistan, a growing number of Indian travellers are now boycotting these two countries. Further, when news arrived that Turkish drones were used against India, many questioned whether this was indeed 'repayment' for India's Operation Dost mission to assist Turkey after it was rocked by a massive earthquake in 2023.

While travel shifts influenced by politics are not uncommon, the speed and scale of this response was unexpected.

This reaction is, no doubt, inflamed by conversations on social media – from keyboard warriors to war veterans. Even some corporate bigwigs have joined the 'boycott' chorus.

One post that is making the rounds is by RPG Group chairman Harsh Goenka. "Indians gave over ₹4,000 crore last year to Turkey and Azerbaijan through tourism... Today, both stand with Pakistan... Plenty of beautiful places in India and the world. Please skip these two places," he wrote on social media.

While the numbers may invite some scrutiny, the sentiment certainly does not.

Several leading travel facilitators, too, echo the sentiment. Ixigo, for example, announced that it was suspending flight and hotel bookings for Turkey, Azerbaijan, and China. "Because when it comes to Bharat, we don't think twice. Jai Hind," the travel booking company wrote on social media.

This was followed by Ixigo CEO Aloke Bajpai's post: "Enough is Enough! Blood and Bookings won't flow together."

Travel platform MakeMyTrip stated that Indian travellers have 'expressed strong sentiments over the past one week, with bookings for Azerbaijan and Turkey decreasing by 60 per cent, while cancellations have surged by 250 per cent during this period.'

"In solidarity with our nation and out of deep respect for our armed forces, we strongly support this sentiment and advise all against all non-essential travel to Azerbaijan and Turkey," a company spokesperson tells CE. Days prior, they had 'discontinued all promotions and offers on our platform to discourage tourism to these two destinations.'

EaseMyTrip, another travel booking platform, too, had put out a travel advisory. It read, "As Turkey and Azerbaijan have shown support for Pakistan, we strongly recommend visiting only if absolutely necessary."

Rikant Pittie, the company's CEO, notes that there was 'a 22 per cent rise in cancellations for Turkey and 30 per cent for Azerbaijan.

Notably, the Travel Agents Association of India and the Travel Agents' Federation of India, too, have halted promotions for Turkey and Azerbaijan.

The impact

What would it mean for the two countries?

Turkey welcomed 3,30,985 Indian travellers last year – up from 1,19,503 in 2014. This year, however, the number is likely to see a drastic fall, threatening the businesses of hotels, tour operators, and airlines.

For Azerbaijan, it is a major blow. As per its tourism board, 2,43,589 Indian travellers visited the country in 2024 – up from a mere 4,853 in 2014. Compared with 2023 (1,17,302), this was a 108 per cent increase.

This year, too, a similar, if not bigger, spike was expected. The recent shift in travel trends is going to significantly impact that number.

Rise of alternatives

Amid all this clamour, several countries emerged as alternative travel destinations. But now, the holidayer's checklist included the questions: 'Is the place safe?' 'Is it in alignment with India?'

"After Covid, Central Asia, especially Azerbaijan, emerged as an unexplored destination for Indians. Many, including me, have visited. However, now with the Indo-Pak conflict, newer destinations like Cambodia, Laos, Philippines, Kazakhstan are getting more traffic from India. These places are more economical than Turkey and tourists get similar experiences," says Nivedith Gajapathy, a Bengaluru-based travel blogger, adding, "Laos has hot-air balloons like Cappadocia; Philippines has beautiful beaches just like Antalya; and the snow-capped mountains in Kazakhstan are similar to Azerbaijan."

EaseMyTrip's Pittie tells CE, travellers are now preferring safer alternatives like Georgia, Serbia, Greece, Thailand, and Vietnam. Hari Ganapathy, co-founder of Pickyourtrail, concurs, stating, "We recommend Greece and Morocco, which offer comparable cultural and experiential richness."

He adds that Southeast Asian destinations, including Vietnam, Thailand, Cambodia, and Bali, too, are now preferred, 'particularly given their favourable safety rankings – a factor that has become increasingly important to today's travellers.'

Yet, amidst all that noise, two suggestions have started to gain currency. 'India shifts travel focus to Armenia and Greece,' screams a travel trend analysis headline. 'India's strategic travel shift: Embracing Armenia and Greece amid boycott of Turkey and Azerbaijan,' goes another one.

Armenia's visa-free access for Indian citizens, cultural richness, and spiritual depth make it especially appealing to those seeking meaningful, value-driven alternatives to Baku (Azerbaijan) or Caspian belt.

Meanwhile, Greece is leveraging both sentiment and strategy. Its Mediterranean beaches and ancient ruins have already made it a favourite among Indian honeymooners. But now, the Hellenic Tourism Board has ramped up outreach efforts in India.In a widely viewed campaign, a Greek food blogger invited Indians with the message: 'Try our dolmades, we'll try your dosas.' The line went viral, drawing thousands of supportive replies and reshares pledges to 'swap Istanbul [Turkey] for Santorini.'

Travel operators are also tailoring their summer packages to weave in Greek islands like Mykonos and Crete, and Armenia's Lake Sevan, Geghard monastery, and Yerevan's vibrant cafes.

A political expression?

This redirection in Indian tourism reflects an evolution in how travellers engage with the world. Where once destinations were chosen for affordability, aesthetics or Instagrammability, now they carry weighty symbolism. Travel, it seems, has become a form of political expression.

RBANM'S EDUCATIONAL CHARITIES RECENTLY CELEBRATED FOUNDER'S DAY BY REMEMBERING THE VISION AND LEGACY OF DHARMARATHNAKARA RAI BAHADUR ARCOT NARRAINSAWMY MUDALIAR

Remembering a visionary... 152 years on

MAHIMA NAGARAJU

IN 1873, 152 years ago, Dharmarathnakara Rai Bahadur Arcot Narrainsawmy Mudaliar, known as the 'merchant prince of Bengaluru' founded the first free English primary school in Bengaluru on Commercial Street. In the following decades, Mudaliar would go on to start many more institutions focused on serving low income, first-generation learners from marginalised caste-class backgrounds for whom the barriers to accessing an education were sky high, including one for girls. It is to celebrate him and his vision that RBANM's educational charities hosted their Founder's Day celebrations on May 14, held at the newly-renovated Sabha, Kamaraj Road, which was once an RBANM school.

Advocate and RBANM's secretary Arvind Narrain, walked an audience of Mudaliar's family members, staff from RBANM's institutions, and other guests through the founder's journey of establishing schools, orphanages, and technical institutes at the 'high noon of colonialism'. Narrain said, "The founder himself did not know English but understood the importance of an education in English. It [his institution] was the first place where Indians could learn English," Interestingly, the first principal was social reformer and freedom fighter Bipin Chandra Pal, who was associated with the Brahmo Samaj. "Brahmo Samaj encouraged the education of women, campaigned for widow remarriage and was against the system of caste. In terms of his vision, the founder wanted a principal who embodied that way of thinking about education being for all people," added Narrain.

In between addresses by the president of RBANM's educational charities and prominent surgeon Dr Nandakumar Jairam and Narrain's lecture, teachers from different institutions read original poems in Kannada, Tamil, and Hindi. An alumnus, Professor K Gnanamurthy, too, took to the stage to share his memories of studying at an RBANM's institute in the '50s. The event concluded on a musical note with researcher and musician Smitha Mudbi introducing the audience to the Yellama folk tradition practised in several regions of North Karnataka by the jogathi community of trans women, through song and storytelling set to the sound of the 'chowdki', a stringed folk instrument. Introducing her, Sahana Das, director of RBANM's First Grade College, said, "Society is defined by culture but when you look back, you realise culture has its own politics and so much of what we revere excludes many other forms of poetry and performances. So I thought it was appropriate, in paying tribute to the founder on his birthday, we have a small performance of a folk tradition, sincerely researched and beautifully presented by Shilpa Mudbi. The yellamma tradition is not only by people who are marginalised and almost forgotten but are also trans and therefore, have another layer of discrimination and hardship."

FITBIT

HANUMANASANA FORWARD BEND (MONKEY POSE FORWARD BEND)

This is a challenging forward bend that demands strength, stability, and flexibility of the core and hips, along with strength of the hip flexors, glutes, and quads. This is a variation of an advanced seated pose – Monkey Pose – where the forehead rests on or beyond the knee of the leg straightened in front, while the other leg extends straight behind.

STEPS

- Start in Ardha Hanumanasana. Take a few deep breaths here. Keep the left leg stretched in the front and the right leg bent behind.
- Inhale, place the hands on either side of your hips. Exhale, stretch your left leg with the toes pointing upwards.
- Slowly slide your right leg behind. Inhale, raise your arms, stretching the upper body in Splits Pose.
- Begin to hinge at your hips and fold your torso over your front leg (left).
- Stretch your spine, grounding the palms on both sides of the left foot. The head comes to rest on the front leg. Stay here for about six breaths or as per your body's capacity.
- Inhale, feel the stretch in your hamstrings and hips. Exhale, gently deepen the forward fold. Inhale, rise into Hanumanasana, bringing your hands back to the floor at the sides. Exhale, bring the left leg behind into Adho Mukha Svanasana. Stay here for a breath or two.
- Repeat the stretch on the other side following the above instructions.
- Release and return to Adho Mukha Svanasana. Finally, relax in Balasana.

BENEFITS

- This deep hip opener stretches the muscles of the hamstrings, thighs, groin, quadriceps, psoas, gluteus, and hip and knee joints.
- Provides a stretch to the spine and back.
- Improves the range of motion in the hip flexors and psoas muscles.
- Helps shift awareness to chest breathing.
- Encourages conscious expansion of the chest, side rib cage, upper back, and abdomen.
- Supports the functioning of the intercostal muscles, aiding the lungs.
- Improves overall balance and alignment while toning the legs.
- Increased blood flow to the head, legs, and hips helps to calm the nervous system.
- Promotes the outward flow of stagnant energy and supplies fresh energy throughout the system.
- Helps release unwanted stress and emotions.
- Stimulates digestive and reproductive organs.
- Is suitable for yoga routines for teenagers or children to foster interest in yoga.
- An excellent pose for runners, athletes, gymnasts, dancers, ice skaters, or climbers to build strength, endurance, flexibility, and agility around the hips and legs.

LIMITATIONS

- Those with recent injuries to the hips, tailbone, pelvis, knees, or ankles, or those with groin or hamstring injuries, chronic conditions, pregnancy, or severe lower back pain, should avoid this pose.
- Keep the body warmed up with multiple rounds of Surya Namaskar or dynamic yoga flows.

CELEBRATION & CHAOS

THE world has changed. Most of us who are of 'middling-age' (a cute phrase I heard from a young PR) are veterans of at least two Indo-Pak wars, which involved some amount of news-watching, and we knew that either the newspapers or the news channels did some type of analysis while reporting. Now this war is fought on social media, and with anybody and their grandfather running a 'private' news channel! As I have mentioned ad nauseam, I am an 'army-brat' and I rue the loss of gravitas with the reporting. War is a political game, and it is so sad that the ordinary folk and our brave jawans have to pay the price. While on the subject, I wish for peace (at the cost of sounding like a beauty-pageant winner), and respect for all. I don't think anyone who sneaks into a sovereign land to kill and maim innocents should be left free to traverse the earth. And I wish for once, 'leaders' think about their people, other than themselves. 'From our hearts to God's ears.'

I must say that I am very impressed with the way life is carrying on without a hitch in namma ooru. I am sure the situation is very dire in the border areas, and we are regularly treated to reels on social media with flashes of artillery fighting and flares in the sky. Though we are filled with patriotic fervour and pride, as an army officer's child, I know the uncertainty and fear we go through at home, never knowing if our father or mother will ever return. It's not only one or two people enlisting, but the whole family that inadvertently enlists in the armed forces. Jai Hind to that!

Just before the hostilities erupted, my friend Prasad Bidapa sent me a very sweetly-worded invitation to a night of 'glamourous fashion and celebration' at the JW Marriott. The House of Brands was unfolding its chic and glamorous line of clothing from different brands, culminating in an extravaganza from the House of Pataudi. I was extremely disappointed at not catching a glimpse of 'the prince', but my friend, the show-stopper, Behram Siganporia, was a great substitute. It's truly wonderful to see Prasad do what he does best! And now, down the years, he has polished his craft to a fine art! He remains a naughty, witty and gracious friend, with thousands of shows that he has curated and performed all over the world under his belt. You go, Prasad!

Vikas Seth has always been a dear friend. His amiable, happy personality belies a supremely talented chef lurking within! In my opinion, he is a maestro, and in a way, I am happy he is so self-effacing and low-key, or else we would have lost him to the Michelin-star hoopla! A lucky group of us were invited to Sanchez, his 'truly Mexican' restaurant at UB City, for the El Cinco-de-Mayo festival, a victory feast celebrated because in 1862, a poorly-equipped Mexican army defeated a better-armed French army. What better way to celebrate than to eat Vikas's new cuisine, wash it down with tequila and listen to some great music! Surrounded with a close cluster-crew of like-minded gastronomes, saying 'Hola' and celebrating with libations was an easy task.

Putting 'life' into days is growing, folks!

Goodness of mango in a nutshell

SUMMER in India brings the sweet, golden delight millions look forward to every year: mangoes. Hailed as the 'king of fruits', mango, is more than a seasonal indulgence; it's a nutritional powerhouse, a symbol of cultural pride, the national fruit of India and Philippines, the national tree of Bangladesh, highlighting its significance across the tropics.

But beyond the aroma and taste, there's a lot to understand about mangoes, especially how we consume them for the best health benefits.

Mangoes are a rich source of essential nutrients and bioactive compounds. Every 100g of mango pulp provides about 60-190 kcal, with 15g of carbohydrates, 0.8g of protein, 0.3g of fat, and 1.6g of dietary fibre. They also deliver a spectrum of vitamins, and minerals including potassium, magnesium, iron, zinc, and calcium. Notably, mangoes contain both alpha-carotene and beta-carotene, important antioxidants and precursors to vitamin A.

The sweetness factor: Proceed with caution

The naturally sweet flavour of mangoes comes from their rich carbohydrate content, primarily in the form of glucose, fructose, and sucrose. Ripe mango pulp contains up to 15 per cent soluble sugars, which contribute to its irresistible taste. However, this also means that overconsumption can contribute to excess calorie intake, potentially leading to obesity and metabolic issues, especially in children or individuals with insulin resistance.

For those with diabetes, prediabetes, or PCOS, nutritionists recommend limiting mango intake to 100-150g per day. Avoid juicing as it removes valuable fibre and leads to rapid sugar absorption. Instead, pair mango with a protein like a healthy fat source. Also, skip having mango with meals; instead, enjoy it as a mid-morning snack.

Why soak mangoes in water?

A traditional yet scientifically plausible practice is soaking mangoes in water for 30 minutes to an hour before eating.

The skin and sap near the stem, can contain natural chemicals that may interfere with digestion or trigger mild allergies.

Soaking mangoes helps in:

- Leaching out water-soluble anti-nutrients like tannins.
- Reducing resin content, which can be irritants.
- Mildly cooling the fruit, which aligns with ayurvedic wisdom that mangoes have a 'heaty' nature, possibly causing acne, nosebleeds, or indigestion if eaten in excess.

Although clinical evidence is limited, the practice is considered harmless and possibly beneficial, especially during the hot summer.

Antioxidant powerhouse

Beyond basic nutrition, mangoes are rich in polyphenols, carotenoids, and flavonoids, making them a strong contender in the fight against oxidative stress and inflammation. Compounds found in the mango peel, pulp, and even leaves have been shown to have antioxidant and anti-inflammatory properties. Traditional decoctions made from mango leaves are used in several cultures to help manage inflammation and blood sugar levels.

Whether you're indulging in Alphonso, Banganapalli, or Langra, mangoes bring joy, flavour, and health benefits to the table. But like all good things, they're best enjoyed in moderation. Pair them wisely, soak them, and savour them in their whole form.

A BOLD, BUT FLAWED FIRST STEP INTO AI CINEMA

A SHARADHAA

WHEN Nutan, the AI creator, and Narasimhamurthy, the story and screenplay writer, announced Love You as India's first AI-generated film, the news stirred both curiosity and skepticism. After all, it's not every day that a love story is created not by human hands, but by algorithms—pixels playing characters, and emotions shaped by code. With its release, Love You takes a bold, though uneven step into unexplored cinematic territory. It dares to ask: can artificial intelligence truly capture the subtle range of human emotion? Based on this debut, the answer—for now—is a clear "not quite."

The film opens with promise. A sweeping song, "Usiru Usiralli...", plays over snowy backdrops that seem to be modelled on Manali. The visuals are rich and stylised, almost like frames from a digital picture book. The characters' features are sharp, their hair neat, and the backgrounds so clean they feel more like wallpaper than real places. Yet, as beautiful as it looks, the emotional connection never quite takes hold. You see beauty, but you don't feel anything.

LOVE YOU
Creator: Nutan
Characters: Nutan, Ashwini and Ananthu
RATING 2.5/5

The story follows Murali Prasad—nicknamed Nutan—a rockstar with a humble background who believes in destiny, astrology, and above all, love. There's an eerie overlap between fiction and reality: the character's name comes from an astrologer's suggestion, just like the film's AI creator, who has also chosen the name Nutan based on astrology. It's a clever nod to the way AI absorbs and reflects cultural beliefs—but also a reminder of its limitations in truly understanding them.

Ashwini, Nutan's love interest, is an ambitious IT professional from a wealthy family who dreams of becoming an astronaut. Their love story unfolds in familiar beats: a chance meeting, growing friendship, silent attraction, and a romantic hot-air balloon proposal. All the expected moments are here but without tension or surprise. The emotions feel preprogrammed, not earned.

The supporting characters—Nutan's farmer father, caring mother, and best friend Ananthu—are present but emotionally underdeveloped. They exist to move the story forward, not to be remembered. Like the film itself, they are conceptually complete but emotionally hollow.

Visually, Love You aims high. The backdrops are beautifully created, and so are the costumes well designed, and the music with a dozen songs play almost constantly—sometimes enhancing the mood, but often overwhelming it. The AI-generated faces are technically impressive but emotionally blank. They're not expressive enough to show joy or sadness, nor stylised enough to be abstract. They sit in a strange middle ground that leaves viewers feeling disconnected. Whether it's laughter, sorrow, or disappointment—none of it lands.

The film explores big themes: the struggle between love and ambition, traditional values versus modern dreams, and the emotional price of success. But, the transitions between these themes are abrupt. One moment Nutan is singing to Ashwini, the next he's dealing with a personal crisis that's kept vague until the very end. The scenes don't flow naturally, and most carry the same visual tone—flat and still, with little emotional payoff.

Things turn melodramatic when Ashwini's father pushes her toward a more "suitable" match in Sameer. Heartbroken, Nutan spirals—he starts smoking, isolates himself, and battles guilt. But even these darker turns feel artificial. The emotional beats don't feel lived-in. They feel like data-driven guesses about what sadness should look like.

This isn't just a storytelling issue—it's a limitation of the medium. AI can string scenes together. It can mimic structure and tone. But it can't (yet) write with the depth of lived experience. It can't feel, and that absence is deeply felt throughout the film.

That may be Love You's most powerful takeaway. It's not a great film—far from it. The pacing is inconsistent. The dialogue shifts between poetic and robotic. And the characters never truly come alive. But as an experiment, it is fascinating. It represents a turning point in cinema, as we begin to see what happens when technology doesn't just support creativity—it becomes the creator.

We are entering a time where machines write, direct, and design. That opens doors, but it also raises hard questions. What does it mean to tell a story when the creator takes the help of a machine? Can a film generated by AI ever speak to the messy, complicated truths of being human? Or will it always be an imitation—polished but empty?

The film begins with a disclaimer from the director: "This film has flaws. But we're not sorry. We want audiences to analyse, not judge." It's an honest and humble starting point. The ambition behind Love You deserves recognition, even if the final product falls short.

In the end, Love You feels more like a tech showcase than a film. It's a conversation starter, not a story that stays with you. A bold concept, weighed down by uneven execution—but important nonetheless.

Call it a fascinating misfire, Love You doesn't quite work as a film, but it may one day be seen as the film that started a new chapter in cinematic storytelling.

A haunting jungle riddle let down by NARRATIVE CHAOS

A SHARADHAA

IN Dee — also called D — writer-director and lead actor Vinay Vasudev attempts a blend of psychological drama, eco-thriller, and survival adventure. The ambition is believable, as is the labour poured into the film's aesthetic and thematic layers. With its deep forest setting, intense character conflicts, and mystical overtones, Dee aspires to be meditative and primal, but the final product often feels like a tangle of unfinished thoughts. There's sincerity here — even flashes of brilliance — but also a disjointed structure that leaves the film emotionally unfocused and narratively overgrown.

The story begins with a forest guard hearing strange noises in the shadows of a vast and unforgiving jungle. He shoots what he believes is a threat. It turns out to be a human. The question of what makes a man more dangerous than a beast is posed early — a potent thesis. This tension is mirrored by the film's setting: the Sirsi forest — lush, untamed, and gorgeously captured by the cinematographer Allen. Practical shots blend with CGI in an uneven mix; some sequences — such as a bear encounter — and scenes involving snakes and elephants feel digitally flat and unnecessary. Why give an artificial look to those gracious beasts? It would have been better even if real animal footage had been used.

At the center is Deepak (Vinay Vasudev), a man caught between a tumultuous past and a confusing present. He's introduced in a violent, bloodied state — feral and fleeing from an unseen danger. As he escapes a bear by climbing a tree, we drop into a flashback, marking the film's reliance on non-linear storytelling. Memories, hallucinations, and reality blur — though not always effectively.

The plot is simple at its core but suddenly alerts the viewer to its deeper complexities. Deepak and Divya (Disha Ramesh), just married, go to the woods in Sirsi for a two-day trip to spend some quality time together. But this is where things take a serious turn. The couple unfortunately gets separated while taking a photo. In come the forest guards; a few forest fugitives, the protagonist's parents, and the deep forest inmates — all initiate a frantic search for Deepak and Divya. Though destiny brings them back together, fate has other plans — leading to the film's climax. As a summary, this plot is neat. But then, abruptly, it fractures into too many trails.

DEE
Direction: Vinay Vasudev
Cast: Vinay Vasudev, Disha Ramesh, Bala Rajwadi, Harini Srikanth, Nagendra Urs
RATING 2.5/5

The first is muddled, especially the first half — with slow pacing, redundant exposition, repetitive incidents, and a cryptic buildup that delays emotional investment. Characters appear without clear motivations, and while the screenplay seems to revel in ambiguity, the lack of structural coherence makes it difficult to grasp what exactly is at stake.

The film tries to juggle too many things. The jungle is a living entity; the animals represent primal instincts; the characters' psychological wounds mirror the physical wilderness. At its best, the film taps into an elemental rhythm — especially in scenes where Deepak and Divya, isolated and desperate, must rely on instinct and mutual understanding. But just as often, these themes are undercut by clunky editing, awkward sequences, and odd tonal inconsistencies.

Supporting performances by Harini Srikanth and Bala Rajwadi as Deepak's parents, and Nagendra Urs as a weary forest officer, offer moments of clarity amid the fog. But the film lacks a stable emotional anchor. Who is this story about — Deepak? Divya? Or the forest itself? The answer is never firmly given — and perhaps intentionally so.

Ultimately, Dee is a film of contrasts: visually poetic yet narratively clumsy; thematically ambitious but structurally confused. It is a story about humans lost in the wilderness — both physical and psychological — but it never quite finds its own compass. There's much to admire in the raw sincerity of Vinay Vasudev's vision. His dedication and hard work as a director and actor are evident. But admiration isn't always enough. The forest may be alive and kicking, which gets all the brownie points, but Dee ultimately loses its direction in the wilderness, never quite earning its place on the green carpet.

Kajal Aggarwal joins Ramayana cast

...says Dheekshith Shetty, who ventures into production with Dhee Cinemas, collaborates with Sreenidhi Bengaluru again for Video

'I want to create space for fresh ideas and emerging talent'

CE FEATURES

WE had earlier reported that Blink actor Dheekshith Shetty and director Sreenidhi Bengaluru are reuniting for a new project titled Video. But this time, Dheekshith is not just an actor playing a pivotal role, but also doubling up as the producer. With Video, he officially launches his production banner, Dhee Cinemas Productions, marking a new vista in his decade-long film journey.

Known for his performances across Kannada, Telugu, Tamil, and Malayalam films, Dheekshith says this move is a natural progression. "I want to create space for fresh ideas and emerging talent," he shares, underlining his vision for Dhee Cinemas. Video, a found footage horror film, is the banner's debut venture—an ambitious entry into a new genre for Kannada cinema.

Director Sreenidhi calls the film a "vlogumentary"—a blend of vlogging and documentary aesthetics, where actors handle the cameras themselves. From CCTV to dash cams and action cams, the film uses modern devices to craft an immersive horror experience rooted in today's digital culture. "We want the audience to feel like they're inside the nightmare," he adds.

With 80 per cent of the shoot completed and post-production underway, Video aims to offer a fresh, tech-driven horror narrative with surprising moments of humour.

Technicians who worked in Blink are returning for this project, with Prasannaa Kumar composing the soundscape, Avinash Shastry handling cinematography, and Sanjeev Jagirdar in charge of editing.

Pan-India film Junior starring Kiriti Reddy to release on this date

CE FEATURES

PRODUCTION house Vaaraahi Chalana Chitram has announced the release date for its upcoming pan-India film Junior, which marks the debut of Kiriti Reddy, son of former Karnataka minister and industrialist Gali Janardhan Reddy. The film is scheduled to release in cinemas on July 18 in pan-Indian languages of Telugu, Kannada, Hindi, Tamil and Malayalam.

Junior is directed by Radha Krishna and produced by Rajani Korrapati. Billed as a family-oriented entertainer, the film features Sreeleela as the female lead opposite Kiriti. Genelia makes her return to Telugu and Kannada cinema in a pivotal role, while veteran actor Ravichandra V appears in a lead role.

Junior is set to blend elements of fun and emotion, aiming to be a family entertainer. A new poster revealing the release date shows the lead cast in a cheerful mood, with Genelia appearing in a more serious tone.

Junior boasts a strong technical crew, with cinematography by K K Senthil Kumar and music by Devi Sri Prasad. Peter Hein handles the action choreography, while production design is by Ravinder. Dialogues are written by Kalyan Chakravarthy Tripuraneni, and editing is by Niranjan Devaramene.
